BUHL PLANE, OF MARYSVILLE, MICH., CRASHES IN NEW JERSEY

Richard E. Hudson, Pilot, Dies on Way to Hospital.

FRIEND CRUSHED
Engine Trouble Forces Edward Bergen to Land.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Sept. 20.—Richard E. Hudson, of Marysville, Mich., pilot, and J. Radike, passenger, of St. Clair, Mich., were killed today when their Buhl airplane number 1 in the Class A New York to Spokane air derby crashed near Long Valley, according to word received here.

Sikorsky Oriole Down.
Hudson, whose home was in Marysville, Mich., died while on the way to the hospital here. Radike was found dead in the machine when ambulance doctors arrived.

Engine trouble forced down another of the entries in the race. Shortly after the Hudson-Radike tragedy, entrant No. 9, the Sikorsky Oriole piloted by Edward Bergen, landed at Curtis field because of motor trouble and expected to make a new start when repairs were made.

Motor Goes Dead.
According to residents here who witnessed the tragedy, the motor of Hudson's plane went dead, caught again and then went dead for the second time as the plane went into a nose dive.

The plane was only a few hundred feet in the air.

ON a 1,000 acre tract near Baltimore there will soon be shown the history of American railroading, from the beginning, with locomotives and cars from various epochs—all in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

The Baltimore & Ohio, first in the United States "to handle for the public passengers and freight," reminds you that this country is gradually becoming respectably ancient.

Two big stories in New York City, the sin and Arnold Constable's, have just reached the respectable age of one hundred. And the age is less important than the marvelous improvements of the last hundred years.

The next step will be the flying machine, with rearrangement of man's living habits, recasting of population centers and land values.

Buy the right hill and mountain tops within two hundred miles of big industrial centers now, and your grandchildren will bless you.

James H. Blinson, teacher in the Paterson, N. J., high school, aged fifty-five, and his wife, fifty-two, died last Saturday in Saint Joseph's hospital after drinking home-made gin.

Dr. Norval, county physician, says the gin was made of "poison alcohol." There is much drinking of such poison, and you can never be sure that it is not the "pre-war stuff" offered by your well-meaning friend.

Also, remember that so-called "gentle beer" is usually near beer that has been "needled." Denatured alcohol is bought at gasoline stations. Some of the poison—not all—is extracted by re-distilling. Then a huge syringe, with a needle point, is used to inject the alcohol into the near beer keg, through the cord or wood opening. And with such "needled beer" ten of thousands of Americans are poisoning themselves, ruining their kidneys.

Only a fool drinks bootleg liquor.

The rest of the country will be glad to hear that Miami, and Florida generally, have wiped out all signs and

FIRST TRAGEDY OF LEGION MEET

PARIS, Sept. 20.—The first tragedy of the American Legion convention occurred here today when Wayne B. Schwenecker, of Adam, Iowa, a member of the Des Moines post of the legion, died in a La Ribouliere hospital of diabetes. Schwenecker was taken from the boat train on his arrival here from Cherbourg suffering from the disease. No decision has yet been made as to disposition of the body.

FOUR CHANGES IN TRAINS ON C. & P. DIVISION

Midnight Express Will Arrive Here at 12:47 a. m.

EAST, WEST HIT

New Schedule Sunday for Old "5 O'clock" Flyer.

Four changes in time of departure of trains out of the East Liverpool station—two eastbound and two westbound—effective next Sunday morning, were announced today by Ticket Agent James Hodgkinson of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad station.

With the end of Daylight Saving time, the so-called midnight train, operating between Pittsburgh and Wells-ville, will leave Pittsburgh at 11:20 o'clock, Eastern Standard time, Sunday night and arrive here at 12:47 a. m. Heretofore this train had left Pittsburgh at 11:20, Daylight Saving time, and arrived here at 11:42 p. m., Eastern Standard time.

The other westbound schedule change affects train No. 213, which will leave Pittsburgh at 6:15 a. m., arrive here at 7:55 and proceed to Alliance, where connection will be made with a Cleveland-bound train. Under the old schedule this train left Pittsburgh at 5:25 and arrived here at 7:25.

Eastbound schedule changes include a new train, supplanting the so-called 5 o'clock, which heretofore has left East Liverpool at 5:12 a. m. and arrived in Pittsburgh at 6:40. The new schedule puts this train back to 6:07 a. m. out of East Liverpool, with arrival in Union station at 7:45. On Sunday it will leave here at 6:25 a. m. and arrive in Pittsburgh at 8:25.

The late afternoon train goes back to the running time in effect prior to Daylight Saving in Pittsburgh. No. 422, now leaving here at 3:50 and arriving in Union station at 5:40, will depart at 4:54 and arrive in Pittsburgh at 5:40.

Schedule of other trains is not affected.

FIFTEEN PLANES, CLASS A ENTRIES IN NEW YORK TO SPOKANE DERBY, HOP AT DROP OF RED FLAG

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—E. E. Balough, of Chicago, piloting a Laird commercial, entered by the E. M. Laird company, was the first of the Class A entries in the New York to Spokane air derby to arrive here today.

Balough landed at 9:23 and was on his way again at 9:30. His planes is No. 6 in the derby and two minutes after his departure, No. 4 a Laird commercial whirlwind, piloted by C. W. Holman, of St. Paul, arrived at the field.

No. 4 took off for the west at 9:39 a. m.

One Plane Forced Down.

Glendive, With Fueling Stops in Three Cities, is Day's Objective in Trans-continental Contest.

CHICAGO TAKE-OFF DELAYED BY MIST

Leslie Miller, Des Moines, Iowa, Piloting "Spirit of St. Paul," Eaglerock Ship, Sets Pace.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 20.—Leslie Miller, piloting his Eagle Rock plane, "Spirit of St. Paul," competing in the class "B" New York to Spokane air derby race, arrived here from Chicago at 9:56 a. m., after refueling. Miller took off at 10:04 a. m. for Fargo, N. D., his next stopping place. C. W. Meyer, in the Waco-Detroit, arrived at 10:05, taking off at 10:20.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Twelve planes, survivors of the 25 that sailed out ahead of the sun from Mineola, L. I., yesterday morning, in the trans-continental air derby for Spokane, zoomed into the hazy sky today, with Glendive, Mont., as their day's objective.

Fueling stops were scheduled for St. Paul, Fargo and Bismarck, N. D., and then into the Montana stop-over town.

Order of Take Off.
The take-off of the planes from the Chicago field was delayed a bit by the low hanging mists of the early morning and it was 7:39 before the first plane was out. Then, at one-minute intervals the rest sailed into the west.

They left in the following order: Leslie Miller, in an Eaglerock; C. W. Meyer, in a Waco 10; J. H. Charles, in an Eaglerock; Eugene Detmer, in a Travelair; W. E. Emory, in a Travelair; E. G. Knapp, in a Waco 10; R. R. Johnson, in a Swallow; A. Litzberger, in a Waco 10; K. R. Unger, in a Travelair; Jack Ashcroft, in a Waco 9; J. B. Sidowsky, in a Swallow; Nimmo Black in a Laird Commercial.

Fight Way Through Fog.

The planes reached Chicago last evening after one of the most hazardous over-land flights ever attempted.

ONE AIRPLANE QUILTS DERBY

Miss South Bend Forced Out by Bad Motor.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Maurice McMeekin, flying the western air line's entry in Class "B" in the trans-continental air derby, arrived here at 9:22 a. m., and took off again at 9:44.

The Miss South Bend, Stephen Darus, pilot, arrived at 9:38 and withdrew from the race because of a bad motor.

The aero club of Pittsburgh entry, R. E. Drake, pilot, and Walter Stewart, passenger, arrived at 10:04. Jack Story's entry, Gerald J. Smith, pilot, and Story a passenger, arrived at 10:12, after having been forced down once in Pennsylvania.

All of the planes are enroute to Glendive, Montana, the next stop in the New York-Spokane air race.

Radio Is Blamed As "$3,000,000 Gate" for Champion Fight Is Hit

Ticket Sale for Dempsey-Tunney Battle at Soldiers' Field, Chicago, May Not Run Over $2,500,000.

MANY OF 163,000 SEATS UNSOLD

Tex Rickard Says There Was Premature Announcement That All $40 Pasteboards Had Been Sold.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Federal and state courts today refused to interfere with the Tunney-Dempsey world's heavyweight title bout in Soldiers' field here Thursday night.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—With the hour of the Dempsey-Tunney fight approaching, Promoter Tex Rickard was faced today with the likelihood that he will not achieve a "$3,000,000 gate" after all—that the ticket sale, in fact, may not run over $2,500,000.

Many of the 163,000 seats for the spectacle were still unsold this morning and will remain unsold unless there is a sudden pickup in business. Rickard blames the radio and premature announcement that all $40 seats had been sold. Radio manufacturers have been advertising advice to fight fans to stay at home and get the fight over the radio and evidently the ads are bringing results. Then, too, Rickard admits his office staff was wrong when they said the $40 seats were all gone.

There are, in fact, "plenty of fine seats" available, according to Rickard. Included in the lot are 3,000 choice $40 ringside tickets returned by Chicago officials who had taken them for friends. There are also plenty of cheaper seats. Sales of these seats have been surprisingly slack, due to the fact that newspapers have laid stress on how far away are some of the $5 seats from the ringside.

Should the receipts not better the $2,500,000 mark, the total attendance probably will be close to 150,000.

FORESTRY AIDE ROTARY GUEST

Dr. J. J. Crumbley Urges Vigilance Over Resources.

Necessity for constant vigilance over the country's forest resources and means of reforestation were discussed by Dr. J. J. Crumbley, of Columbus, representing the state forestry department, at today's noon luncheon and meeting of the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A.

Wilson Smith was chairman of the meeting. Approximately 45 were present.

Dr. Crumbley referred to the nation's forests as one of its chief sources of wealth and explained the functions of the state forestry department in its efforts toward conservation.

LINDBERGH OFF FOR LOS ANGELES

BIG FIGHT SET FOR 10 O'CLOCK

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney will enter the ring Thursday night at about 10 o'clock Central Daylight Saving time (10 o'clock East Liverpool time). Promoter Tex Rickard stated today. The first preliminary bout will be started at 8:15 and the main attraction about 10 unless there are indications of rain in which event Rickard would stage the Dempsey-Tunney fight somewhat earlier.

Indications are that "top coat weather" will prevail. The thermometer dropped sharply this morning and forecaster Henry J. Cox is predicting it will be cool, fair and moonless on the night of the fight.

PERSHING, FOCH AND GOURAUD PLEDGE AMITY IN PARIS MEET

Three Great Military Figures Speak at Legion Session.

HEROES CHEERED

Next Year's Convention Seems Assured For San Diego.

By George R. Holmes.

TROCADERO PALACE, PARIS, Sept. 10.—From the same platform today, three of the great military figures of the World war, General John J. Pershing, Marshall Foch and General Gouraud, military governor of Paris, joined together in a stirring plea for eternal world peace.

Franco-American Love Feast.
They spoke at the second official session of the American Legion convention, a gathering that was transformed into a Franco-American love feast as World war leaders and other figures in high official life and public esteem, pledged an everlasting friendship between the two nations.

The Legionnaires who gathered again in the grand hall of the palace were still glowing with the warmth of the reception accorded their parade by Paris boulevardiers yesterday, and they attended today's session prepared to manifest their appreciation for everything French. They literally tore off the roof of the palace with their tumultuous cheering for the French war heroes and for General Pershing at well, and once again the excitable Parisians enjoyed the spectacle of seeing and hearing a group of 20,000 men more vociferous in their enthusiasm even than themselves.

Ear-Splitting Applause.
Marshal Foch was the first speaker. A striking figure in his brilliant uniform, resplendent with medals and decorations, he stood smiling on the speakers' stand until the ear-splitting applause had subsided.

The winning of the World war, Marshal Foch told the veterans, was due to "perfect understanding and co-operation among the allied leaders. These same qualities, he continued, would go far toward the ultimate goal of all humanity—peace, fraternity and industry.

Marshal Foch complimented the Legionnaires warmly on the strength and scope of their organizations.

"You have placed the Legion on the upward march to right and justice," he declared. "You have opened a vast horizon of happiness to the world of industry, peace and fraternity. Where is the Frenchman who will not respond to such a call?"

General Gouraud spoke next. He

MORROW GIVEN DIPLOMATIC POST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Dwight W. Morrow, partner in the firm of P. Morgan & Co., was today appointed ambassador to Mexico.

The appointment was announced today by President Coolidge.

Morrow will resign his connection with the house of Morgan to take the diplomatic post.

RICKARD, PASTOR IN COURT FIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Denying the Rev. Elmer L. Williams has a right to attempt to stop the world's championship heavyweight fight Thursday night, Attorney Franklin J. Stransky, representing Jack Dempsey and Tex Rickard, promoter, went into federal court here today with a motion to dismiss a petition for an injunction to halt the fight.

The petition was filed last week by the Rev. Williams.

Stransky insisted the minister is in no way affected by the fight, has no advanced a sufficient complaint to justify his petition, and doesn't even pay taxes in the South Park district which includes the Soldier field stadium where the fight will be held.

LIME NEEDED IN STATE SOIL

From tests of four thousand samples of soil from all parts of West Virginia it has been determined that 55 per cent of the soil in the state requires lime, according to Dr. R. J. Garber, head of the Agronomy Department, West Virginia College of Agriculture.

In the tests made of the soil special last year it was found that the soil requirements for lime in this state vary from nothing to eight tons of lime. The average, however, is about two tons of ground limestone to the acre. Either 1,480 pounds of hydrated lime or 1,120 pounds of burnt lime is equivalent to 2,000 pounds of ground limestone. Dr. Garber states:

Since soil bacteria is stimulated and more nutrients are made available to the plants by the use of lime, lime alone will increase the crop yield for a time. But, Dr. Garber reminds, lime stimulates rather than adds any plant nutrients to the soil. Consequently, the effect of lime will soon wane if fertilizers and manures are not added.

TIRES DEFEATED IN CLOSE GAME

Homer Laughlin China, evened up the series with Chester Superior Cord Tires here last night by winning the fourth game of the series, 5 to 4.

Graham and Ashe were on the mound for the locals, while Harmon, Evans and Crandall occupied the hill top for the visitors.

The fifth game will be staged tomorrow night at Chester.

McCormack Funeral.
Funeral services for Mrs. Joseph M. McCormack, of Grant street, were held this morning in the St. Aloysius church, East Liverpool. Burial was made in St. Aloysius cemetery.

Aid Society Meeting.
Aid and Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will meet tonight in the Sunday school room of the church. Regular program will be carried out.

Mid-Week Services.
Prayer meeting services will be held tomorrow night in the various churches. Pastors will be in charge of the meetings.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

TELLING TROUBLES.

An old proverb has it that "telling your troubles is swelling your troubles." It does more than that. It makes you an unwelcome visitor and a bore. There will always be sympathetic souls who will listen to our troubles. Be sure, however, that they don't enjoy the recital and they will try to escape it the next time. If you want to be popular, keep on the high-road and out of the swamp.

MORE THAN EDUCATION.

The president of the United States is one of those who sees clearly enough that the world is not going to be made better by education alone. Some words of his spoken a few days ago at the South Dakota Agricultural college bear remembering—and thinking about. He said:

"All of our science and all of our arts will never be the means for the true advancement of our nation. Will never remove us from the sphere of the superficial and the cynical. Will never give us a civilization and a culture of any worthy and lasting importance unless we are able to see in them the outward manifestation of a spiritual reality."

Study The Three Greatest American Documents

There are three documents which every American should be familiar with—the Declaration of Independence, proclaimed on July 4, 1776; the Articles of Confederation providing for a Union of the States; and the Constitution of the United States; which is the highest law of the land.

A thorough understanding of the history and government of this country is not possible without a knowledge of these three historic papers.

Our readers are offered a remarkable booklet containing these three historic papers.

Our readers are offered a remarkable booklet containing these three documents.

THE MIND.

You can work with the mind and rest it at the same time if you know how. It is a good idea to read more than one book at a time. If you are reading a heavy work on the history of philosophy or a scientific book, you will do well to take on a new novel at the same time by way of contrast and recreation. The brain is capable of an almost immeasurable amount of use but it does better on a variety of exercise.

THE DOLE.

The unemployment pension is probably one of the worst things that ever happened to England. It helps many a family for a time, but eventually it takes away the independent spirit and the self reliance of the worker. Too much dependence on government is deadly.

REAL SERVICE.

Congressmen who are the most useful, who really give the greatest service to the folks back home are not always the ones who know the most about political issues. They are the ones who answer the most letters, who take care of the greatest number of human needs. And congressmen who last the longest are those who keep closest to the people.

A Different and Better Washer

The New Gainaday Electric Washer

THE NEW GAINADAY
cleans a "handful of little things" or a tubful in few minutes. No tangling or pulling out of strings. No wear on most delicate garments.

The secret of the marvelous efficiency of this great washer is in the tub—the perfecting of which required two years' time and a cash investment of $100,000. The tub is all one piece, pressed from 33 oz. drawn copper; nickel-tinned inside—will not warp, rust or corrode.

As it rotates to left and to right it creates a wonderful water action—and there is not a loose screw or moving part inside to cause any wear on the clothes.

Mechanically the NEW GAINADAY is the simplest machine made.

The few moving parts are enclosed and you are no more conscious of its mechanism than of that in a phonograph. Positively nothing to break or get out of order.

MOORE'S

"The Store of Beautiful Furniture"

EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO.

COLLEEN MOORE AT AMERICAN

"Orchids and Ermine" Butter-and-Egg Man Picture.

Popular and effective methods by which orchids, ermines and diamonds are separated from butter-and-egg men by New York's efficient army of blonde and brune te gold excavators are revealed with laughter in Colleen Moore's "Orchids and Ermine," the First National Picture which came to the American theatre yesterday.

This human and humorous story of what happened to one little New York hotel telephone operator who fell in love with a millionaire traveling incognito as his own valet, pokes good-natured fun at the oleomargarine and hen-fruit merchants. In addition to being charmingly convincing and appealing as the operator, Miss Moore runs the switchboard as though she had done it all her life.

Lots of Laughs.
This star's comedy is delightfully whimsical and is particularly effective in "Orchids and Ermine." The love scenes with Jack Muhlall in a driving rain on the unprotected top of a Fifth Avenue bus, the efforts of "Jobby Shells" to make dates, and the scenes in which the flower center blonde shows Colleen how to vamp men, paged laughs in large numbers yesterday.

Judging by the size of the settings, New York's largest hotel must have been obtained by John McCormick, the producer, for the interior scenes. Added interest and real color is given the story by reason of the fact that the real Broadway, 77th Avenue and Riverside Drive were used as the background of the outdoor action.

Santell Directed.
Alfred Santell has transferred this Carey Wilson story to the screen with the same gaily swinging gait that characterized his "Classified" and "Subway Sadie."

A large and excellent cast supports Colleen Moore. It is headed by Jack Muhlall as the bashful oil king, Sam Hardy, Owen Lee, Alma Bennett, Hedda Hopper, Kate Price, Jed Frouthy, Emily Fitzroy, Caroline Snowden, Yola d'Avril and Brooks Benedict.

Adelaide and Brisbane, Australia, are to have new theaters, each costing $875,000.

Panama's new highway, 169 miles long, is to be completed next March.

Sally's Shoulders

by BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "HER MAN" "MONEY LOU" "THE HOLLYWOOD GIRL" ETC.

"Heaven alone knew what went on in offices all day long," she declared.

SYNOPSIS:

READ THIS FIRST:

SALLY JEROME, 20 and clever, and pretty, is the prop and mainstay of her family in the absence of her father who has been separated from her mother for nine years.

The family consists of MRS. JEROME, the twins, BEAU and MILLIE; and Sally herself. Mrs. Jerome is a semi-invalid. So Sally does the housework mornings and works in MR. PEEVEY'S office downtown afternoons.

In the flat below the Jeromes lives young TED SLOAN, who wants Sally to marry him and keep on working. But Sally refuses him, not because she minds working after she's married, but because she doesn't love him and because she hopes to have a real home and babies when she does marry. The only man in whom she is interested, however, is JOHN NYE, whose office is opposite Mr. Peevey's. Nye has hired the siren Millie as his stenographer, and when he returns from a trip to see his mother, who is ill at a summer resort, Millie, out of work, borrows $2 from Sally to "tide her over." She spends it all and tries to borrow more, but Sally has only enough for the week. Beau, who seldom contributes a cent toward the upkeep of the house, has spent all of his on liquor for a party given by MABEL WILMOT, his best girl. He, too, is dead broke and tries to borrow some from Sally, who is forced to refuse him, too.

The next night she is amazed when Beau comes home with a guitar that he has long been craving. Millie, too, blossoms out in a brand new pale-blue flannel dress, and Sally wonders where on earth they got the money for their purchases.

Ted Sloan, drawn by the sound of Beau playing the guitar, comes up stairs just as Millie's "sweetie"—a man named DAVIDSON—arrives to take her out for the evening. Millie, who has been refusing to speak to Sally because she refused to let her cut down one of her dresses into a bathing suit, breaks her sulky silence long enough to ask Sally to go into the living room and entertain him while she finishes dressing.

(Now go on with the Story.)

CHAPTER XI.

When Sally went back into the living room with its old brownwalnut furniture—its crisp muslin curtains and pots of salmon-pink geraniums, Beau was still playing "Miami Shore" on his new guitar.

"Come on, Sally," the man named Davidson said, when he caught sight of her in the doorway. "Rattle your ankles for us again!" He spoke to her as casually as if he had known her for years instead of for five minutes.

Sally hated his air of intimacy, all at once. She didn't like the way his eyes ran over her, from her head down to the slim ankles that he wanted her to "rattle" for him again.

She shook her head and dropped in to Mrs. Jerome's old green velvet chair. "Please don't ask me to dance," she said, and gave him a little smile that barely lifted the corners of her mouth. "I don't do it well enough!"

This, of course, was not the truth. Sally was a marvelous dancer, and she knew it without conceit and without special pride in it. She simply knew that she could dance, just as she knew that she could cook and keep house well.

"I'll bet you do!" Davidson said with enthusiasm. "I'll bet there isn't a thing you do that you don't do well!" He came across the lamp-lit room and sat down on the wide arm of the green velvet chair.

"Dear me," thought Sally. "I wonder if this is the way he talks to every girl he meets."

"Oh, me!" she said aloud. "I don't do anything particularly well. I can't sing or play the piano or do any of the smart things most girls can do. I'm just a plug—"

"She can cook!" came Millie's triumphant little voice from the door. She was standing between the curtains that hung there, a perfect picture of youth and loveliness and girlish innocence in her blue dress that matched her blue eyes.

"And she can scrub floors and wash dishes and iron clothes to beat the band," she went on with a soft, cruel little laugh. "Sally's just the dearest old kitchen mechanic that ever was. We couldn't keep house without her."

"So, Sally's the housekeeper," Davidson said, slowly, and looking up at him. Sally saw that his eyes were full of kindness. "Well, let me shake hands with you, Sally. You're the only girl I know who can cook a meal—and who isn't ashamed of saying so. Most of the kids that are growing up these days don't know a waffle-iron from a flat-iron."

"I hope you aren't slamming me when you say that," piped up Millie, who was never happy unless she were in the lime-light. "Come on, Davy, let's go if we're going."

She shot Sally a jealous glance from her shallow blue eyes, and bore Davidson off with the air of a warlike Indian hanging his enemy's scalp upon his belt.

"Nice baby, isn't she?" Ted Sloan asked when the pair of them were gone. He stood at the window with his back to the room, looking down into the street that was filled with twilight. "Nice sweet sister to you."

"Davidson sort of fell for you, didn't he?" he asked quietly, after a little pause.

"Oh me!" Sally said again. "Who'd look at me when Millie's around?"

"I would," he answered, with a sort of huskiness in his voice. "I would any day in the week—every day in the week!"

On Saturday Mabel came to have supper and spend the night with the Jeromes. Beau brought her home with him at 5 o'clock. In his arms was a bulky gray paper package, and upon his head was a new felt hat.

"Bought myself a few socks and things, so you wouldn't have to wear your eyes out mending the old stuff any longer," he said to Sally, with the air of a missionary and a good Samaritan.

"That's nice," his sister answered, and as she spoke a little troubled frown printed itself upon her forehead. She hoped that Beau hadn't spent all of his salary on his new clothing. For with Millie out of work, it was going to be hard work to keep the bills paid unless he borrowed some money from him this week.

That night, when she went into his room to turn down the bed, it was littered with things he had bought. There were six or seven new neckties on the dresser. The top drawer stood open, and it was filled with soft collars still in their glazed-paper envelopes. There were three new shirts—loud-striped ones—on a chair beside the bed, along with a dozen pairs of heavy silk socks.

Sally gave a little gasp of astonishment as she looked at them. The troubled look came into her eyes again. Why, Beau must have spent every nickel of his $40 salary on this stuff. It was all good, all expensive.

"For the love of little green apples! Where did he get $40?" said Sally, in a horrified whisper. Her eyes darted to one corner of the room, where the guitar stood upright against the wall—the guitar that he had bought three days ago, when he had said he was "flat-busted."

Sally did not know exactly what a guitar cost, but she supposed that a good one was pretty expensive. She knew, too, that Beau wouldn't buy one unless it was a good one.

He disliked cheap things, he always said. Even the cigarettes that were habitually passed upon his lower lips were a cork-tipped kind that cost 30 cents a box.

"If I can't have the best, I don't want anything," was one of Beau's favorite sayings. "I'd rather do without!" And he did without very little that he wanted. A man can spend $40 a week upon himself, and have a fairly comfortable time of it.

"Mother must have got her check and turned it over to him," was the conclusion that Sally finally came to, as she put the clothes neatly away in his drawers.

Every month or so a check came from Mr. Jerome for her. Sometimes it was not a very big check, and sometimes it was. The only bad feature of it was that it came at irregular intervals, and that Mrs. Jerome often spent it on foolish luxuries instead of putting it into the bank or paying a grocery bill with it.

Lately she had been turning it over to Beau and Millie, who knew when it was about due, and did not hesitate to ask for money whenever there was any of it in sight.

"Money just runs through my fingers," Mrs. Jerome was wont to say in her helpless, good-natured way, and Beau and Millie were just like her. Born spendthrifts.

"Sally's the tightwad of the family," they often said, especially when she had refused to lend them money for cigarettes or perfume or motion-picture magazines.

Sally went now to her mother, who was sitting at the dining room table, reading and finishing her after-dinner coffee. She just would drink coffee at night, even though she stayed awake 'til dawn. She said she couldn't do without it. It kept up her strength—what strength she had.

The table before her was littered with dirty dishes and bread crumbs, and on the other side of it sat Millie, looking over a new woman's magazine. Mabel was reading it over her shoulder.

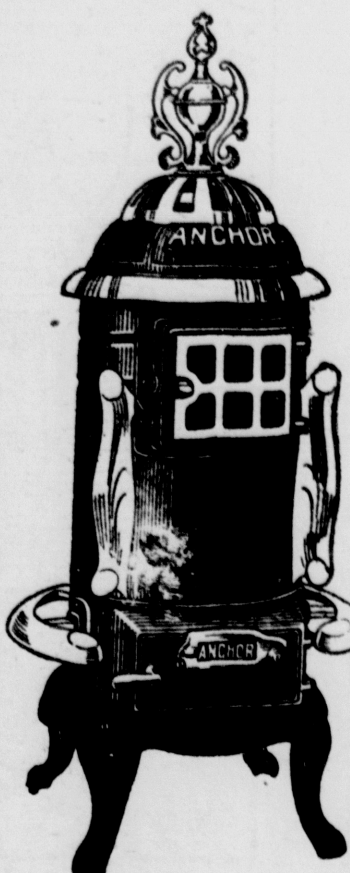

"Say, I thought you two were going to do the dishes for me, so I'd have time to mend Millie's stockings for her!" Sally spoke sharply to the pair of them. They were always promising to help her with the dishes or the bed-making in return for work she did for them.

Mabel opened her big eyes and shrugged one shoulder.

"I'm perfectly willing to help do them said she pertly. "There's no reason why I should—Beau pays for any trouble I make in this house." Sally's scarlet mouth made a round O of astonishment. "Beau pays for

Warm Comfort in Every Room With the Improved Anchor Hot-Blast HEATER

Wherever heating stoves are used the Anchor Hot Blast proves its superiority—proves that in down-right efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast will burn any fuel—hard coal, soft coal, lignite, wood or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and slow economical combustion. Because of the hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal equal to a ton or more of expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applied to every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely airtight and remains airtight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will last the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25 per cent on your fuel bill.

Study these construction features. Know that your Anchor Hot Blast will save its cost out of the coal bin and pay dividends for years to come in warm home comfort and satisfaction.

'Hayfoot, Strawfoot'

It's not merely what they'll do
—but the way they do it

Crowd them a little and most of the cars that you're likely to buy will give you more speed than you're likely to need.

—that makes friends
for the Wolverine

easily it will carry you fast hour after hour, mile after mile.

But you never need to crowd a Wolverine.
It does its job easily, smoothly, willingly.
Try one yourself and see the way it goes through its paces. Watch how quickly it gathers speed—no straining, no rumbling, no laboring. Hold it at forty or fifty for awhile—that will tell you how

Push it a little faster than you think you dare over a road that's half holes and half bumps—you'll know then what comfort means to the owner of a Wolverine.

If you like a car that's so quick to re-

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1927.

Getting Acquainted With City's Manufacturers

In keeping with a custom established several years ago, members of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as non-members who desire to accompany them, will pay a visit tomorrow to the Patterson Foundry and Machine company's new plant in East End.

Fifty or more pottery manufacturers, merchants and professional men will meet at the post office, Broadway and Fifth street, at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for the trip to the St. George street foundry and machine shop, the latest addition to the Ceramic City's list. The trip will be made in motor cars.

A three-hour inspection of the plant will be made by the visitors, who have accepted an invitation from R. L. Cawood, president of the company. I will be the third jaunt of this nature of the company. It will be the third jaunt of this nature industries visited were the Babcock-Wilcox plant, near the state line, and the Homer Laughlin China company's No. 6 tunnel kiln pottery in Newell.

This is a worth-while idea, for it not only gives East Liverpool citizens an opportunity to become acquainted with what's what industrially in their home city, but it also serves to solidify the bonds of friendship among the manufacturers, business and professional men who are important factors in the prosperity of the community.

More Rubber

Henry Ford is said to have bought 1,200,000 acres of land in the state of Para, Brazil, for a vast rubber plantation, with options on two or three million more acres. Thus, if the report is true, Ford will solve the rubber problem for his own company.

It is the same thing that Firestone has done in western Africa. His rubber plantations in Liberia are already producing on a moderate scale.

Other manufacturers are looking for similar opportunities, and industrial scientists are scouring the world for plants and climates capable of producing this essential raw material. It is the inevitable result of the rubber scarcity which lately made automobile tires so expensive and threatened to limit the growth of the motor industry. Also a result of the monopoly and price-fixing power gained temporarily by British interests in the East Indies. America will soon be independent as far as rubber is concerned.

There is satisfaction in this for all motorists, not to mention users of rubber in its dozens of other forms. Tires are cheap, now, considering their excellence and durability. They may become still cheaper.

Sensible Rowboats

A new type of rowboat has been produced at Leipzig, Germany. It has a novel method of propulsion. Instead of oars, there is a propeller wheel operated by a mechanism similar to that familiar in this country on small boys' express wagons. The rower pulls on the handles of an upright lever. The steering is done with the feet, pressing against a yoke at the bottom of the boat which acts also as a footbrace.

This information should interest more people than are interested in yachting or theoretical navigation, providing a cheap rival for the outboard motor. The rowboat is still the most widely used of all water craft. And the standard rowboat is absurd in one particular, at least—the rower can't see where he is going. In this new-fangled German boat, the rower faces forward instead of backward. The steering is easier, too. Also there may be some gain in the substitution of a propeller for oars.

The idea might well be adopted in this country. There is no better exercise than rowing, and any device that will persuade an indolent race to propel their own boats deserves approval.

If this particular mechanism is objected to as too complicated for a mere rowboat, is it beyond the power of the human intellect to produce oars with which the oarsman can face forward while he rows?

Direct Stock Sales

The New Haven railroad, issuing $49,000,000 of preferred stock, is going to offer it direct to the investors without any underwriting. That is to say, no bank will insure the sale of stock and pass it on to the consumer at a price giving it a profit for its services.

The direct disposal of this issue by the railroad is ordered for the sake of economy by the interstate commerce commission, and represents one of the various new branches of activity in which the commission is engaging. The saving in this case is expected to be about 2 per cent, or nearly $1,000,000.

That saving may go to the present owners of the railroad, or to the new stockholders, or may be divided between them. Ultimately any such economy tends to benefit the entire public.

Most underwriting is presumably legitimate and necessary. There have been exceptions, however, and vast profits have been made by underwriting firms in many cases where the securities could have been marketed just as well without their intervention. The tendency is to eliminate the middleman in selling securities, as in other things.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A Billion Dollar Department.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—Many have the notion a visit to Hollywood is somewhat like a trip through a sewer in a glass bottom boat. Hollywood is a country town suddenly mushroomed into a city of national interest and still a little pop-eyed over the change. It has a paprika dash and no community is just like it.

Hollywood is interested chiefly in itself and its picture stars. It cares little for the outside world. The movies made it what it is today and it is satisfied. The supreme indifference is stimulating. Los Angeles regards Hollywood dispassionately and with a healthy smug tolerance.

A tiny specialty shop blooming in a building crevice will line its walls with autographed pictures of movie stars and do a rushing business. A butcher displays a typewritten screed from some glycerine heroine: "I love your meat." And he too prospers.

Nowhere are movie folk so lionized. No matter how remote the contact with the picture industry, it spells prestige. Even a cameraman is a god. The town is in a perpetual fever of adulation and, of course, movie people love it. Gloria Swanson, walking Hollywood Boulevard, brings business to a full stop.

Daily a hyena-like half circle clogs about the entrance of the Montmartre cafe for a peek at those who have attained cinema celebrity. Studio exit gates nightly are surrounded by Hollywood people who seem never to tire of gazing upon their idols.

Along streets you see old geezers with milk-white beards and a faded wonder in their eyes as well as chemically straw blondes glancing, looking for the Big Chance. Hope never reaches a low ebb. It is always at flood tide.

Young stenographers and sales girls frequently dye their hair a garish yellow and use movie tan powder, purple eye shadows and tangerine lip paint just to walk along the street and be taken for movie folk. In Hollywood a beauty specialist is a "beauty operator," a filling station is a "greasing palace" and a manicure parlor is a "nail clipper." All is different.

Men and women walk along streets in bathing costumes. And in the bungalow kitchens you often see housewives cooking evening meals, attired in one-piece bathing suits. Nearly half the motorists seem to be in the same attire.

Forty years ago Hollywood was a land covered with brush and Los Angeles called it Cahuenga Pass. Today it is as well known all over the world as London. And it is as provocative and mysterious as Paris. People who might have spent lives in mediocre hum-drum have come carried on at an expenditure of a billion dollars a year. That branch is the Postoffice Department. Whatever economists might have to say about the decline in the purchasing power of the dollar and the increase in wages and the cost of materials, it nevertheless is true that those who were surprised at and found fault with the first Billion Dollar Congress would stand aghast at such an amount being employed by a single department.

Perhaps it is erroneous to employ the term "expenditure" in this connection because the postoffice collects a vast amount of money for its services to the public. For the fiscal year 1927 the appropriation for the Post office Department was $714,000,000. Receipts vary from year to year. They fall under the cost of the service, the congress making up the deficit by a appropriation.

An outstanding advance made by the postal service has been in connection with the development of the parcel post system. What now moves as parcel post formerly was known as fourth class mail. Prior to 1913 mail of this class amounted to but 5 per cent of the weight of all domestic mail matter. By 1926, this volume had swelled to 62 per cent. Approximately 4,250,000,000 pounds of merchandise moved through the mails by parcels post in that year.

Mail order merchandising is not so now as the parcel post but the establishment of the latter and the increasing of the weight limit from time to time has so rapidly extended the mail order business that a very large percentage of the goods sold in the United States is delivered by mail.

Chicago leads in parcel post shipments because, being centrally located, it can reach a wider radius of population more quickly and more cheaply. Ninety carloads of goods are shipped from Chicago by parcel post every day. New York comes next with 66 carloads and Philadelphia third with 32 carloads.

The big field for parcel post merchandising obviously is in the rural regions. Shopping amounts almost to a vice among some city dwellers. It does not always mean purchasing but if the store is readily available, the prospective purchaser likes to inspect personally the goods for sale. Very different it is in the country. There are still thousands of families dwelling 20, 30, perhaps 100 miles from the nearest railroad or the nearest store of any size and million living in small towns whose stores have limited assortments. These are the bulk of the mail order and parcel post customers. They can inspect the large catalogues furnished by the mail order houses and send in their orders, speedily receiving their goods.

The rural free delivery system now extends to some 7,000,000 families in the United States, each one a prospective customer of the mail order houses and of the parcel post. The postoffice benefits in three ways as a rule. Ordinary letter postage must be paid in sending in the order in the first place. Further, the sales of money orders are increased and, finally, the postoffice gets the business of shipping the goods desired by parcel post.

These services do not pay their cost, with the exception of first class mail and, hence, the postal deficit; but inasmuch as the facilities must be maintained it is to the advantage of the department to stimulate business. Many Without Free Delivery. People accustomed to have two or three mail deliveries at the doors of their residences every day and more at their offices, and even farmers accustomed to receive at least one delivery a day by carrier in the country, can scarcely realize how many people there are who still must follow the old-time custom of going to the postoffice for the mail. Some go once a day, some once a week, and some not more than once a month on account of the distance their homes lie from the nearest postoffice.

The persons living in cities to whom mail is delivered at their doors number 55,800,000, according to post office estimates while some 31,600,000 living in the country are served by rural mail carriers. But nearly a quarter of the whole population of the United States—about 34,000,000 persons—still are trusting to the postoffice to get their mail themselves. The Department, with the support of Congress, constantly is extending the rural service and this number of unserved persons gradually is being cut down. However, there are those who live in such inaccessible places that rural free delivery is next to impossible. In other regions, the population is too sparse to make the establishment of routes advisable.

Rural free delivery is far more costly than city or village delivery. City delivery, although the highest developed, costs but $2 a year for each person served. That is because so many can be served within the same radius. Rural delivery costs, on an average, $3.50 per person.

It is interesting to note how development of the postal system, has gone hand in hand with the development of the country. When our whole population was concentrated on the eastern seaboard the matter was simpler. As the westward march began, the long distance, mail-carrying stage coach was put into extensive use. Steamboats on the rivers were employed and later and most picturesque of all, the pony express.

OHIOAN, TWICE TRIED IN BANK ROBBERY, FACES FEDERAL COURT

Point Place Man is
Vindicated in Defiance Case.
CHARGE NOLLED
Awaits Trial on U. S.
Prohibition Law
Court.

OTTAWA, O., Sept. 20.—Arthur N. Bystrom, Point Place, twice tried for robbing the Merchants' National bank of Defiance of $167,000, was vindicated of the charges today and was awaiting the arrival of federal authorities to remove him to Toledo where he is to be tried in the federal court on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition act.

The indictment against Bystrom was nolleed late Monday after his third trial on the robbery charge had been set for October 10, and the witnesses ordered subpoenaed.

Bystrom, whose occupation is said to be a Lake Erie rum runner, was first tried for the bank robbery in March in Defiance county. The jury could not agree and a change of venue was ordered.

Third Trial Was Set.

His second trial was held in June in Putnam county. Nearly a score of Canadians and residents came from Pelee island in Lake Erie, and testified that Bystrom and his wrecked liquor boat had been washed ashore there on November 27, 1920, the day that the bank was robbed. The jury after deliberating for 22 minutes returned a verdict of guilty and the case was appealed.

The court of appeals set aside the verdict of the lower court, declaring that it was impossible to give proper consideration to the mass of evidence in this time.

The third trial was then set, but the indictment was nolleed at the eleventh hour after a consultation between the prosecutors of Putnam and Defiance counties and Bystrom's attorneys.

In granting a change of venue, Judge Hay of Defiance county pointed out that the close alliance of Defiance county citizens with the robbed bank and Bystrom's alleged liquor activities prompted him to transfer the place of trial to Putnam county.

VINDICATE KENT SCHOOL CHIEF

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Complete vindication of Dr. David Anderson, president of Kent State Normal college, was seen in a statement made public today by the board of trustees of the school following a meeting here yesterday.

Dr. Anderson has been "under fire" for the past several months, and more than 100 formal complaints have been brought against him by faculty and alumni of the school. He was charged with being "too dictatorial" in administering the affairs of the college.

The trustees' meeting held here yesterday in the office of David L. Rockwell, chairman of the board, was the sixth and, it is believed, the last, in which the charges were given hearing. A formal statement issued by the board at the conclusion reads, in part:

"Certain administrative differences have arisen between the board and Dr. David Allen Anderson, the president, but these have been adjusted to the satisfaction of the parties concerned. By this adjustment no further changes in the faculty or plant personnel will be made at this time."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Monday's closing rally in the motor, steel, copper and industrial stocks was carried into the first period today. Vigorous professional buying of Texas Gulf Sulphur, General Motors, steel, Magna Copper, Allied Chemical, Green Cananea Copper, Kelly Springfield, United States Rubber and other speculative favorites was attended with price gains of 1 to 3 points, and the market as a whole appeared to have recovered from the Saturday-Monday slump.

Texas Gulf Sulphur jumped to a new high price of 89 for a gain of about 2 1/2 points, on rumors that the directors would increase the cash dividend to 5 per cent annually, in addition to special dividend. The coppers made further response to the firming up of the market for the red metal, Magna having a special stimulus in the discovery of valuable ore in a recent exploration in its property. The stock sold today at 45 1/4, up 3 1/4 for the period and 7 points since an announcement of the discovery.

The comparatively small amount of short selling in yesterday's session resulted in an over-crowding of the short position according to reports in the financial district, and the rush to cover at the start of the session accounted for the sharp forward swings in prices. Bullish forces in General Motors and other speculative leaders held their lines tightly, and were ready to absorb all stock offered on a rising price scale. Ever the oil stocks and the sugars, which have been behind the procession this year, moved upward in good form.

Cotton lost about a dollar a bale, and prices finally returned to near the 20-cent level, as the result of heavy liquidation by speculative longs. Local commodity markets were steady and call money unchanged at 4 per cent.

Getting Acquainted With City's Manufacturers

In keeping with a custom established several years ago, members of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as non-members who desire to accompany them, will pay a visit tomorrow to the Patterson Foundry and Machine company's new plant in East End.

Fifty or more pottery manufacturers, merchants and professional men will meet at the post office, Broadway and Fifth street, at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for the trip to the St. George street foundry and machine shop, the latest addition to the Ceramic City's list. The trip will be made in motor cars.

A three-hour inspection of the plant will be made by the visitors, who have accepted an invitation from R. L. Cawood, president of the company. I will be the third jaunt of this nature of the company. It will be the third jaunt of this nature industries visited were the Babcock-Wilcox plant, near the state line, and the Homer Laughlin China company's No. 6 tunnel kiln pottery in Newell.

This is a worth-while idea, for it not only gives East Liverpool citizens an opportunity to become acquainted with what's what industrially in their home city, but it also serves to solidify the bonds of friendship among the manufacturers, business and professional men who are important factors in the prosperity of the community.

More Rubber

Henry Ford is said to have bought 1,200,000 acres of land in the state of Para, Brazil, for a vast rubber plantation, with options on two or three million more acres. Thus, if the report is true, Ford will solve the rubber problem for his own company.

It is the same thing that Firestone has done in western Africa. His rubber plantations in Liberia are already producing on a moderate scale.

Other manufacturers are looking for similar opportunities, and industrial scientists are scouring the world for plants and climates capable of producing this essential raw material. It is the inevitable result of the rubber scarcity which lately made automobile tires so expensive and threatened to limit the growth of the motor industry. Also a result of the monopoly and price-fixing power gained temporarily by British interests in the East Indies. America will soon be independent as far as rubber is concerned.

There is satisfaction in this for all motorists, not to mention users of rubber in its dozens of other forms. Tires are cheap, now, considering their excellence and durability. They may become still cheaper.

Sensible Rowboats

A new type of rowboat has been produced at Leipzig, Germany. It has a novel method of propulsion. Instead of oars, there is a propeller wheel operated by a mechanism similar to that familiar in this country on small boys' express wagons. The rower pulls on the handles of an upright lever. The steering is done with the feet, pressing against a yoke at the bottom of the boat which acts also as a footbrake.

This information should interest more people than are interested in yachting or theoretical navigation, providing a cheap rival for the outboard motor. The rowboat is still the most widely used of all water craft. And the standard rowboat is absurd in one particular, at least—the rower can't see where he is going. In this new-fangled German boat, the rower faces forward instead of backward. The steering is easier, too. Also there may be one gain in the substitution of a propeller for oars.

The idea might well be adopted in this country. There is no better exercise than rowing, and any device that will persuade an indolent race to propel their own boats deserves approval.

If this particular mechanism is objected to as too complicated for a mere rowboat, is it beyond the power of the human intellect to produce oars with which the oarsman can face forward while he rows?

Direct Stock Sales

The New Haven railroad, issuing $49,000,000 of preferred stock, is going to offer it direct to the investors without any underwriting. That is to say, no bank will insure the sale of stock and pass it on to the consumer at a price giving it a profit for its services.

The direct disposal of this issue by the railroad is ordered for the sake of economy by the interstate commerce commission, and represents one of the various new branches of activity in which the commission is engaging. The saving in this case is expected to be about 2 per cent, or nearly $1,000,000.

That saving may go to the present owners of the railroad, or to the new stockholders, or may be divided between them. Ultimately any such economy tends to benefit the entire public.

Most underwriting is presumably legitimate and necessary. There have been exceptions, however, and vast profits have been made by underwriting firms in many cases where the securities could have been marketed just as well without their intervention. The tendency is to eliminate the middleman in selling securities, as in other things.

A lot of people, about this time, are drifting back from the primitive life to find that there's some merit, after all, in the comforts of an effete civilization.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A Billion Dollar Department.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—Many have the notion a visit to Hollywood is somewhat like a trip through a sewer in a glass bottom boat. Hollywood is a country town suddenly mushroomed into a city of national interest and still a little pop-eyed over the change. It has a paprika dash and no community is just like it.

Hollywood is interested chiefly in itself and its picture stars. It cares little for the outside world. The movies made it what it is today and it is satisfied. The supreme indifference is stimulating. Los Angeles regards Hollywood dispassionately and with a slightly smug tolerance.

A tiny specialty shop blooming in a building crevice will line its walls with autographed pictures of movie stars and do a rushing business. A butcher displays a typewritten screed from some kliegman heroine: "I love your meat." And he too prospers.

Nowhere are movie folk so lionized. No matter how remote the contact with the picture industry, it spells prestige. Even a cameraman is a god. The town is in a perpetual fever of adulation and, of course, movie people love it. Gloria Swanson, walking Hollywood Boulevard, brings business to a full stop.

Daily a hyena-like half circle clogs about the entrance of the Montmartre cafe for a peek at those who have attained cinema celebrity. Studio exit gates nightly are surrounded by Hollywood people who seem never to tire of gazing upon their idols.

Along streets you see old geezers with milk-white beards and a faded wonder in their eyes as well as chemically straw blonde ginghamed, looking for the Big Chance. Hope never reaches a low ebb. It is always at flood tide.

Young stenographers and sales girls frequently dye their hair a canary yellow and use movie tan powder, purple eye shadows and tangerine lip paint just to walk along the street and be taken for movie folk. In Hollywood a beauty specialist is a "beauty operator," a filling station is a "greasing palace" and a manicure parlor is a "nail clipper." All is different.

Men and women walk along streets in bathing costumes. And in the bungalow kitchens you often see housewives cooking evening meals, attired in one-piece bathing suits. Nearly half the motorists seem to be in the same attire.

Forty years ago Hollywood was a land covered with brush and Los Angeles called it Caluenga Pass. Today it is as well known all over the world as London. And it is as provocative and mysterious as Paris.

People who might have spent lives in mediocre hum-drum have come here and almost over night attained a living splendor staggering the imagination. There is the old story of one movie comedian telling about all the trick stuff he has in his garden—fountains, goldfish pool, sundial, pergola, pavilion, statuary, etc. "It was just an ordinary garden when I bought it," he said, "but now I've got it all gagged up."

Evidently there is no craving for literature in Hollywood. In a stationery store that has a three cents a day circulating library, I heard the attendant tell a girl returning a book the charges were $2.89.

Broadway in no way compares with Hollywood for outlandish extreme dress. This morning I saw a young girl costumed in a flame red dress, hat, stockings and shoes—carrying a swager stick the same hue. And in front of a dairy lunch was a blond young man in white trousers and shoes, a deep blue silk sport shirt and a pink sash belt. Monocles are quite commonly used, often by women as well as men.

Hollywood lives loosely—there is no denying that and if you did a first page murder would arise to confound you. Yet you have a feeling that that is exactly the way it wants to live. "Easy come, easy go," expresses its spirit. It has been able, seemingly, to laugh off every scandal.

nearest railroad or the nearest store of any size and million living in small towns whose stores have limited assortments. These are the bulk of the mail order and parcel post customers. They can inspect the large catalogues furnished by the mail order houses and send in their orders, speedily receiving their goods.

The rural free delivery system now extends to some 7,000,000 families in the United States, each one a prospective customer of the mail order houses and of the parcel post. The postoffice benefits in three ways as a rule. Ordinary letter postage must be paid in sending in the order in the first place. Further, the sales of money orders are increased and, finally the postoffice gets the business of shipping the goods desired by parcel post.

These services do not pay their cost, with the exception of first class mail and, hence, the postal deficit; but inasmuch as the facilities must be maintained it is to the advantage of the department to stimulate business.

Many Without Free Delivery. People accustomed to have two or three mail deliveries at the doors of their residences every day and more at their offices, and even farmers accustomed to receive at least one delivery a day by carrier in the country, can scarcely realize how many people there are who still must follow the old-time custom of going to the postoffice for the mail. Some go once a day, some once a week, and some not more than once a month on account of the distance their homes lie from the nearest postoffice.

The persons living in cities to whom mail is delivered at their doors number 55,800,000, according to post office estimates while some 31,600,000 living in the country are served by rural mail carriers. But nearly a quarter of the whole population of the United States—about 34,000,000 persons—still are trudging to the postoffice to get their mail themselves.

The Department, with the support of Congress, constantly is extending the rural service and this number of unserved persons gradually is being cut down. However, there are those who live in such inaccessible places that rural free delivery is next to impossible. In other regions, the population is too sparse to make the establishment of routes advisable.

Rural free delivery is far more costly than city or village delivery. City delivery, although the highest developed, costs but $2 a year for each person served. That is because so many can be served within the same radius. Rural delivery costs, on an average $3.30 per person.

It is interesting to note how development of the postal system has gone hand in hand with the development of the country. When out whole population was concentrated on the eastern seaboard the matter was simpler but as the westward march began, the long distance, mail-carrying stage coach was put into extensive use. Steamboats on the rivers were employed and later and most picturesque of all, the pony express.

OHIOAN, TWICE TRIED IN BANK ROBBERY, FACES FEDERAL COURT

Point Place Man is
Vindicated in Defiance Case.

CHARGE NOLLED

Awaits Trial on U. S.
Prohibition Law
Court.

OTTAWA, O., Sept. 20.—Arthur N. Bystrom, Point Place, twice tried for robbing the Merchants' National bank of Defiance of $167,000, was vindicated of the charges today and was awaiting the arrival of federal authorities to remove him to Toledo where he is to be tried in the federal court on charges of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition act.

The indictment against Bystrom was nolle prossed late Monday after his third trial on the robbery charge had been set for October 10, and the witnesses ordered subpoenaed.

Bystrom, whose occupation is said to be a Lake Erie rum runner, was first tried for the bank robbery in March in Defiance county. The jury could not agree and a change of venue was ordered.

Third Trial Was Set.

His second trial was held in June in Putnam county. Nearly a score of Canadians and residents came from Pelee island in Lake Erie, and testified that Bystrom and his wretched liquor boat had been washed ashore there on November 27, 1926, the day that the bank was robbed. The jury after deliberating for 22 minutes returned a verdict of guilty and the case was appealed.

The court of appeals set aside the verdict of the lower court, declaring that it was impossible to give proper consideration to the mass of evidence in this time.

The third trial was then set, but the indictment was nolle prossed at the eleventh hour after a consultation between the prosecutors of Putnam and Defiance counties and Bystrom's attorneys.

In granting a change of venue, Judge Hay of Defiance county pointed out that the close alliance of Defiance county citizens with the robbed bank and Bystrom's alleged liquor activities prompted him to transfer the place of trial to Putnam county.

VINDICATE KENT SCHOOL CHIEF

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Complete vindication of Dr. David Anderson, president of Kent State Normal college, was seen in a statement made public today by the board of trustees of the school following a meeting here yesterday.

Dr. Anderson has been "under fire" for the past several months, and more than 100 formal complaints have been brought against him by faculty and alumni of the school. He was charged with being "too dictatorial" in administering the affairs of the college.

The trustees' meeting held here yesterday in the office of David L. Rockwell, chairman of the board, was the sixth and, it is believed, the last, in which the charges were given hearing. A formal statement issued by the board at the conclusion reads, in part:

"Certain administrative differences have arisen between the board and Dr. David Allen Anderson, the president, but these have been adjusted to the satisfaction of the parties concerned. By this adjustment no further changes in the faculty or plant personnel will be made at this time."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Monday's closing rally in the motor, steel, copper and industrial stocks was carried into the first period today. Vigorous professional buying of Texas Gulf Sulphur, General Motors, steel, Magma Copper, Allied Chemical, Green Cananea Copper, Kelly Springfield, United States Rubber and other speculative favorites was attended with price gains of 1 to 3 points, and the market as a whole appeared to have recovered from the Saturday-Monday slump.

Texas Gulf Sulphur jumped to a new high price of 80 for a gain of about 2 1/2 points, on rumors that the directors would increase the cash dividend to 5 per cent annually, in addition to special dividend. The copper made further response to the firming up of the market for the red metal, Magma having a special stimulus in the discovery of valuable ore in a recent exploration in its property. The stock sold today at 45 1/2 up 3 1/4 for the period and 7 points since announcement of the discovery.

The comparatively small amount of short selling in yesterday's session resulted in an over-crowding of the short position according to reports in the financial district, and the rush to cover at the start of the session accounted for the sharp forward swings in prices. Bullish forces in General Motors and other speculative leaders held their lines tightly, and were ready to absorb all stock offered on a rising price scale. Ever the oil stocks and the sugars, which have been behind the procession this year, moved upward in good form. A cotton lost about a dollar a bale, and prices finally returned to near the 20-cent level, as the result of heavy liquidation by speculative longs. Local commodity markets were steady and call money unchanged at 4 per cent.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

EARLY CALL OF SENATE LIKELY TO TAKE UP SMITH-VARE CASES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. — Calling an early extra session of the senate, to dispose of the Vare and Smith cases before the congressional rush starts, is a good deal like hurrying up the execution of a couple of condemned prisoners, to let the electrician and his assistants get the job out of the way in time to attend to more important work.

Considering the next senate's make-up, it's about as sure a thing as anything that William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, will be denied the seats they claim to have been elected to.

If it could be guaranteed that that would end them senatorially, it wouldn't take long.

It's foreseen, however, that Vare and Smith both will thrash around unprecedentedly when the juice is turned on. There are even hints of an attempt to revive them after the full strength of the current has passed through their bodies. Nobody can guess how this experiment may turn out.

SOME folks think Vare and Smith will sit in the senate yet, but not until after some hair-raising scenes have been enacted.

These scenes are bound to occupy considerable time — months perhaps. So much interruption naturally will play smash with the work of the regular session, if it slips over into then. Hence the demand for an early start, Oct. 20, as mostly suggested. Possibly the house of representatives will be summoned, too, but that isn't so urgent.

A senate call seems pretty probable.

THE Vare and Smith cases are peculiar. Senate contests are not so unusual. The most recent one was between Dan Steck and Smith W. Brookhart, growing out of the 1924 Iowa senatorial election. Brookhart appeared to have won. His credentials were in order and he was seated, but Steck, charging election irregularities, contested. After months of investigation, the senate decided for him, put Brookhart out and put Steck in. But in the meantime Brookhart (who, since then, has won another election and is back again) was a sure-enough senator, and it took a two-thirds majority to oust him, for it does take two-thirds to unseat a senator, once he's seated.

VARE and Smith are attacked on the ground that their nominations, not their elections, were irregular. (Incidentally Vare has an election contest pending against him, too, but that's a side issue.)

If they weren't properly nominated they weren't legitimate candidates at all, and so can't possibly have been elected — that's the contention. Their credentials look o.k., just as Brookhart's did, but their credentials are disputed, on the theory that the whole thing goes back to their nominations — tainted at the source, so to speak.

Now the nub of it is, if they once get in, it will require a two-thirds majority to expel them, and their opponents never can muster that many, but a bare majority can prevent them from getting in, and their opponents almost certainly can scare up that many and a few over.

THEY won't get in, then. The odds are 10 to 1 on that.

But then what? Why, there'll be a vacant senatorship for Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania to fill by appointment until next election day, and one for Gov. Small of Illinois to fill similarly.

And suppose Gov. Fisher appoints William S. Vare and Gov. Small appoints Frank L. Smith. Vare and Smith may not be entitled to senate seats now, but those appointments will be pretty hard to puncture.

If that happens—and it looks like middling good betting—then's when the real row will start in the senate.

Improved transportation in Colombia is expected to be followed by the opening of many mines that heretofore could not be reached.

any trouble you make here, Mabel!" she repeated. "Why, what are you talking about? Not that you're any trouble. We love to have you any time you can come—but don't get it into your head that Beau pays your board here, or anything like that. Why, Beau doesn't even pay his own board."

"Sally! Sally! I wouldn't talk about my brother if I were you!" Mrs. Jerome glanced up at her daughter with strong disapproval, making her plump face almost haggard for an instant.

"Well, Mabel ought to know the truth about him. She's going to live with him all her life!" declared Sally. "It isn't fair to let her think that he pays her bills when he doesn't! He shouldn't be allowed to get away with such tales."

She laid the bill for his clothes down before her mother on the cloth. "And you? You've been lending him your money again!" she said hotly. "Look at that! Spending almost $50 on those silly-looking clothes in there, when you haven't even paid your doctor bill for last month. When you need a new bathrobe and a lot of things—and then he can pay $4 for one necktie, and $3 for another, and—"

"But I didn't lend him any money," Mrs. Jerome broke in mildly. "I haven't had my July check from your father yet. I haven't any money."

She went on reviewing her wrongs. It seemed hard, she said, that they should have such a dreadful time of it all because of their father—because he ran away and left her to face the music alone.

"To think of my girls having to work in offices all day with a lot of tobacco-smoking men!" she sighed. "Especially Millie—Millie, poor little thing, is so attractive to men—"

Heaven alone knew what went on in offices all day long, she declared. She never had a minute's peace while her girls were away at work in them.

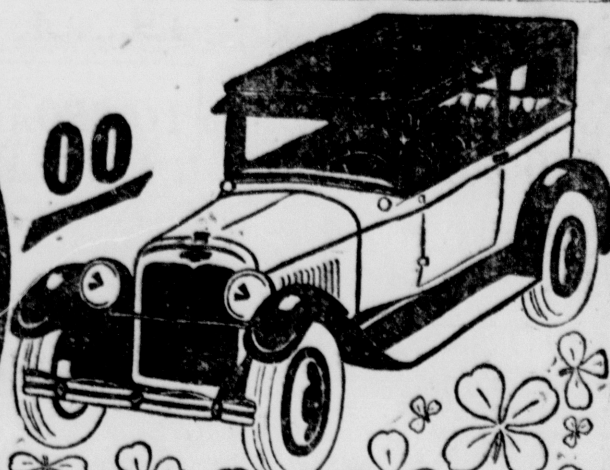

"You don't need to worry about us," said Sally. "Not right now, anyway."

But we've all got to worry about Beau. . . . Where's he getting all this money lately—this money that he's spending on guitars and haberdashery, eh?"

Startled, Millie came in from the kitchen, dish-towel in hand. "By jinks, that's right!" she cried. "He HAS had a lot lately, hasn't he?"

And do you know, he let me have the money to buy that blue flannel dress with! Forty-five dollars!" (To be continued)

WELCOME NEWS TO FOLKS AFFLICTED WITH PILES

You Can Relieve Piles
Now Without Salves
Or Operation

A SIMPLE INTERNAL REMEDY ENDS IT ALL

A famous chemist asked himself one day: "Why can't I coat a pill with a substance impervious to gastric juices so it will pass through the stomach into the bowels and then dissolve into a healing, soothing liquid to reach the innermost cause, allay the pain, and help nature banish piles and hemorrhoids in a lasting complete and permanent way?"

His researches brought their reward. Thousands of tests prove that no matter how long or how severely one has suffered they can forget nasty salves, suppositories or ugly operations and be relieved in a simple, scientific, harmless fashion.

"When I began taking Colace Pile Pills I was in bed suffering a severe form of bleeding piles, but in 3 days I was up and in two weeks entirely cured. In eight months I have had no return of the trouble," declared Wm. Day, Troy, N. Y., one of the thousands who suffer no more. Even delicate invalids troubled with piles, sit, walk and sleep comfortably without pain in a few hours in many instances and report complete relief in a few days. Doctors endorse this harmless, effective internal way. Glorious, lasting relief so positive and sure that several druggists here have sent for a supply and are featuring them now. Certainly with such a simple treatment available now, no one young or old should suffer another day. Just a couple pills each meal—few days. Your druggist has Colace Pile Pills, 60 c for full size bottle, 40 tablets.

SOCIETY

APOLLO MALE CHORUS TO BROADCAST PROGRAM FROM K D K A SATURDAY

Twenty-five Voices, With Assisting Artists, Will be "on Air" From 8 to 9 O'clock, Daylight Saving Time.

The Apollo Male chorus of the First Presbyterian church will broadcast a program from station KDKA, Pittsburgh, Saturday evening, Sept. 24, from 8 until 9 o'clock, Daylight Saving time. The chorus, composed of 25 voices, with assisting artists, has arranged a varied program under the direction of W. A. Macdonald.

Mrs. J. P. Calhoun, the accompanist, will offer a piano solo of her own composition.

Missionary Society Gives Dinner.

The Young Woman's Missionary society of the First United Presbyterian church held a covered dinner last evening at 6 o'clock in the home of Mrs. James Fox, Avondale street. The tables were decorated with summer flowers.

The dinner was served by Mrs. Fox, assisted by Mrs. Lois O'Brien, and the social committee, which included Mesdames Harry Risinger, Jesse Fisher, I. A. Hoffman and John Finley. Covers were arranged for 50 guests.

The after-dinner program included: Devotionals, Mrs. Alice DeArnold; vocal solo, Mrs. Georgia McLane Campbell; piano solo, Miss Helen Hanna; readings, Miss Ruth Sloan.

The next meeting will be held on the third Monday in October.

Past Noble Grand's Dinner Party.

Miss Claudia Gill will receive the members of the Past Noble Grand association of Ceramic Rebekah Lodge No. 286 in her home in St. Clair avenue on Friday evening. A covered dinner will be served at 6 o'clock.

P. H. C. Meets Wednesday.

Ceramic Circle No. 446, Protected Home Circle, will meet in room No. 2 of the Pottery hall tomorrow evening. Arrangements for the fall social events will be made. Refreshments will be served.

Mesdames Kathryn Gieckner, Lulu Blagier and Lillian Mercer are members of the social committee.

Dancing, Curran Dancing Academy, Tuesday night.

End Oily, Sallow Skin

A little Calomite powder sprinkled on a wet cloth and rubbed gently over the face each night ends shiny, oily skins—puts new life into sallow skin, and cleans the pores of all dust, dirt and prevents blackheads. It makes the skin feel refreshed and bright, so you will enjoy a good night's rest.

Feel Good

Most ailments start from poor elimination (constipation or semi-constipation). Intestinal poisons sap vitality, undermine health and make life miserable. Tonight try MR. WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

EARLY CALL OF SENATE LIKELY TO TAKE UP SMITH-VARE CASES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. — Calling an early extra session of the senate, to dispose of the Vare and Smith cases before the congressional rush starts, is a good deal like hurrying up the execution of a couple of condemned prisoners, to let the electrician and his assistants get the job out of the way in time to attend to more important work.

Considering the next senate's make-up, it's about as sure a thing as anything that William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, will be denied the seats they claim to have been elected to.

If it could be guaranteed that that would end them senatorially, it wouldn't take long.

It's foreseen, however, that Vare and Smith both will thrash around unprecedentedly when the juice is turned on. There are even hints of an attempt to revive them after the full strength of the current has passed through their bodies. Nobody can guess how this experiment may turn out.

SOME folks think Vare and Smith will sit in the senate yet, but not until after some hair-raising scenes have been enacted.

These scenes are bound to occupy considerable time — months perhaps. So much interruption naturally will play smash with the work of the regular session, if it slips over into then. Hence the demand for an early start, Oct. 20, as mostly suggested. Possibly the house of representatives will be summoned, too, but that isn't so urgent.

A senate call seems pretty probable.

THE Vare and Smith cases are peculiar. Senate contests are not so unusual. The most recent one was between Dan Steck and Smith W. Brookhart, growing out of the 1924 Iowa senatorial election. Brookhart appeared to have won. His credentials were in order and he was seated, but Steck, charging election irregularities, contested. After months of investigation, the senate decided for him, put Brookhart out and put Steck in.

But in the meantime Brookhart (who, since then, has won another election and is back again) was a sure-enough senator, and it took a two-thirds majority to oust him, for it does take two-thirds to unseat a senator, once he's seated.

VARE and Smith are attacked on the ground that their nominations, not their elections, were irregular. (Incidentally Vare has an election contest pending against him, too, but that's a side issue.)

If they weren't properly nominated they weren't legitimate candidates at all, and so can't possibly have been elected — that's the contention. Their credentials look okay, just as Brookhart's did, but their credentials are disputed, on the theory that the whole thing goes back to their nominations — tainted at the source, so to speak.

Now the nub of it is, if they once get in, it will require a two-thirds majority to expel them, and their opponents never can muster that many, but a bare majority can prevent them from getting in, and their opponents almost certainly can scare up that many and a few over.

THEY won't get in, then. The odds are 10 to 1 on that.

But then what? Why, there'll be a vacant senatorship for Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania to fill by appointment until next election day, and one for Gov. Small of Illinois to fill similarly.

And suppose Gov. Fisher appoints William S. Vare and Gov. Small appoints Frank L. Smith. Vare and Smith may not be entitled to senate seats now, but those appointments will be pretty hard to puncture.

If that happens — and it looks like middling good betting — then's when the real row will start in the senate.

any trouble you make here, Mabel," she repeated. "Why, what are you talking about? Not that you're any trouble. We love to have you any time you can come — but don't get it into your head that Beau pays your board here, or anything like that. Why, Beau doesn't even pay his own board."

"Sally! Sally! I wouldn't talk about my brother if I were you!" Mrs. Jerome glanced up at her daughter with strong disapproval, making her plump face almost haggard for an instant.

"Well, Mabel ought to know the truth about him. She's going to live with him all her life!" declared Sally. "It isn't fair to let her think that he pays her bills when he doesn't! He shouldn't be allowed to get away with such tales."

She laid the bill for his clothes down before her mother on the cloth. "And you! You've been lending him your money again!" she said hotly. "Look at that! Spending almost $50 on those silly-looking clothes in there, when you haven't even paid your doctor bill for last month. When you need a new bathrobe and a lot of things — and then he can pay $4 for one necktie, and $3 for another, and —"

"But I didn't lend him any money," Mrs. Jerome broke in mildly. "I haven't had my July check from your father yet. I haven't any money."

She went on reviewing her wrongs. It seemed hard, she said, that they should have such a dreadful time of it all because of their father — because he ran away and left her to face the music alone.

"To think of my girls having to work in offices all day with a lot of tobacco-smoking men!" she sighed. "Especially Millie — Millie, poor little thing, is so attractive to men —"

Heaven alone knew what went on in offices all day long, she declared. She never had a minute's peace while her girls were away at work in them. "You don't need to worry about us," said Sally. "Not right now, anyway."

Startled, Millie came in from the kitchen, dish-towel in hand. "By jinks, that's right!" she cried. "He HAS had a lot lately, hasn't he?"

And do you know, he let me have the money to buy that blue flannel dress with! Forty-five dollars!" (To be continued)

WELCOME NEWS TO FOLKS AFFLICTED WITH PILES

You Can Relieve Pile! Now Without Salves Or Operation
A SIMPLE INTERNAL REMEDY ENDS IT ALL

A famous chemist asked himself one day: "Why can't I coat a pill with a substance impervious to gastric juices so it will pass through the stomach into the bowels and then dissolve into a healing, soothing liquid to reach the innermost cause, allay the pain, and help nature banish piles and hemorrhoids in a lasting complete and permanent way?"

His researches brought their reward. Thousands of tests prove that no matter how long or how severely one has suffered they can forget nasty salves, suppositories or ugly operations and be relieved in a simple, scientific, harmless fashion.

"When I began taking Colace Pile Pills I was in bed suffering a severe form of bleeding piles, but in 3 days I was up and in two weeks entirely cured. In eight months I have had no return of the trouble," declared Wm. Day, Troy, N. Y., one of the thousands who suffer no more. Even delicate invalids troubled with piles, sit, walk and sleep comfortably without pain in a few hours in many instances and report complete relief in a few days. Doctors endorse this harmless, effective internal way. Glorious, lasting relief so positive and sure that several druggists here have sent for a supply and are featuring them now. Certainly with such a simple treatment available now, no one young or old should suffer another day. Just a couple pills each meal — few days. Your druggist has Colace Pile Pills, 60 c for full size bottle, 40 tablets.

CHARLES BIRGER, ILLINOIS GUNMAN, AWAITS NOOSE

SLAYER'S DOOM SET BY COURT FOR OCT. 15

Convicted of Killing Mayor Joe Adams of West City. GANGSTER CHIEF. Condemned Man Has Lost His Jaunty Air.

BENTON, Ill., Sept. 20. — With his doom set for October 15, when, by virtue of the verdict of a Franklin county jury, Charles Birger is scheduled to hang for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams, of West City, the one-time gang leader of Southern Illinois has been passing the days by looking back over his tumultuous career.

Small and swarthy, Birger has lost the jaunty air which he carried until the verdict which sealed his fate was issued.

Even through the days of the trial, in which he, together with his lieutenant, Art Newman, and Ray Hyland, a gang member, were on trial for having hired Henry Thomasson, 19, to call the 300-pound mayor of West City, near here, to his door one night in December, 1926, and shoot him dead, Birger kept up his joviality throughout.

For several years Charles Birger led over this section of "Little Egypt," as southwestern Illinois is called, running his booze freely, violating the law openly and keeping out of jail easily. Then he split with the Shelton brothers over "profits" and aided materially in sending them to Leavenworth, Kan., federal penitentiary.

Birger was alleged to have conspired to kill Joe Adams, Thomasson admitting being paid to do the job. He and his brother, Elmo, since that time killed, received $150 from Birger for firing three shots into Adams' body. $50 a shot, Thomasson testified. He pleaded guilty and went to prison for life.

Birger was brought to trial. And more for what he had done and gotten by with during the past years, than for plotting the death of Adams, he received the death verdict here, while Newman and Hyland were given life sentences, according to public opinion.

A third member of the gang, Connie Ritter, has been sought throughout the nation. He was reported in New Orleans a few months ago.

A call of the "death roll" in southern Illinois' gang wars will show the ruthlessness with which men and women were put out of the law.

In August, 1926, Harry Walker, former Hottel policeman, and body guard of S. Glenn Young, Klan raider, and Everett Smith were shot to death. A man, never captured, was accused of the murder.

William "Wild Bill" Holland, was killed in September, 1926.

Own Men Accused. William McQuay, 19, and Ward Jones, 21, bartenders at Shady Rest, Birger's hangout, were found dead October 26, 1926. Some of Birger's own men were charged with these two crimes.

Jeff Stone, mayor of Colp and a friend, John Milroy, were killed in Colp late in November, 1926.

On December 12, 1926, Mayor Joe Adams, of West City, was called to his door and shot to death by two youths, Harry and Elmo Thomasson. It was for this killing that Birger, Newman and Hyland were tried.

In January, 1927, Mr. and Mrs. Steve George, Elmo Thomasson and Bert Owens were killed when Shady Rest, Birger's roadhouse, was blown up and destroyed. Machine guns were used to make sure the victims would die. Prior to that, an airplane had tried to bomb Shady Rest, but the bombs fell harmlessly in a nearby field.

Man and Wife Murdered. Following the destruction of Shady Rest came the kidnapping and slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Lory Price, of Marion. Price was a state highway patrolman. The two were taken from their home on the night of January 17. Price's body was found 22 days later in Washington county, in a field, riddled with bullets. Mrs. Price's body was discovered in June in an old mine near Marion, on evidence furnished by Newman. Birger's erstwhile lieutenant, Newman blamed Birger with these crimes.

In all of this crime, not one of the leaders has paid with his life. One youth, Joe Chesnas, alleged to have been a friend of Birger's, was hanged to Saline county, June 22, for the murder of an aged postman. The ring leaders, however, have thus far escaped.

But it seems as if Birger will at last pay the supreme penalty on October 15.

EX-PRINCE OPENS FIGHT ON WILL

BUCHAREST, Sept. 20.—Pompey Crown Prince Carol, of Roumania, is attempting to break the will of his father, the late King Ferdinand and has already obtained the intervention of the court of appeals. It was announced today by the official court gazette.

Carol's petition for a trustee to safeguard his interests was granted by the court of appeals, with the appointment of Gen. Condescu as trustee.

ILLINOIS GANGSTER NEARS DOOM

Charlie Birger, southern Illinois gang leader, nears his doom. Convicted of the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, Ill., Birger, in jail at Benton, Ill., has been experiencing the calmest days of his recent life while awaiting death on the scaffold on October 15. The former terror of "Little Egypt," as the region is called, has lost his jaunty air, although his attorneys have been making a fight to carry his case to the state supreme court, alleging he was not convicted on evidence, but to "get him" for alleged misdeeds of the past.

HOOSIER MAYOR DENIES CHARGES

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 20. — Mayor John L. Duvall today continued to face a stinging barrage of questions concerning his alleged political deals. Prosecuting Attorney William H. Remy cross examined the Indianapolis mayor, who late yesterday finished his direct testimony on charges of political corruption.

Duvall has registered nearly a general denial to all charges that he promised William H. Arncliffe, Indianapolis politician, three city jobs for $14,500, the Klan $5 per cent of his appointments and numerous alleged offers to smother politicians.

But Duvall was hazy in his reply to questions concerning agreeing to the Klan's political policy.

The plane, a biplane with tracing type wings, fell into a tree and remained suspended there. Hudson was still breathing when residents reached him.

Internal injuries, it was believed, caused his death, while enroute to the hospital.

Last year he was employed by the Buhl company at Marysville, Mich., as a test pilot and was regarded as an excellent flyer.

REPORT 21 CASES IN EPIDEMIC

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20. — No new territory is affected by the 21 new cases of infantile paralysis in Ohio which were officially reported today to the state health department.

So far this month, 235 new cases of this disease were officially reported, including 13 deaths. It was announced.

During August, 315 cases, including 36 deaths, were reported to the state health department.

So far this month, 235 new cases of this disease were officially reported, including 13 deaths. It was announced.

During August, 315 cases, including 36 deaths, were reported to the state health department.

New cases reported today were: Belmont county, 4; Stark county, 2; Crestline, Crawford county, 2, including 1 death; and one each in Akron, Cincinnati, Marion and in Columbiana, Cuyahoga, Jefferson, Mahoning, Monroe, Morrow, Paulding, Portage, Richland and William counties.

12 Derby Survivors

The pilots reported they had fought their way through fog, blinding rain and deadwinds during practically the entire trip.

Leslie Miller, of Des Moines, Iowa, piloting the "Spirit of St. Paul," an Eaglerock plane, was the first to land here. His time for the 768-mile course from New York was 9 hours and 43 minutes.

Seven others of the 25 planes which yesterday took off from Roosevelt field, N. Y., got only as far as Bryan, Ohio, last night. They will leave today for Chicago.

The remaining six planes were forced out of the race by motor trouble or unfavorable weather.

Three minutes after Miller had brought his Spirit of St. Paul to a perfect landing here, C. W. Meyers of Detroit, landed his Waco 10, and five minutes behind Meyers came J. S. Charles of Richmond, Va.

Order of Arrival. The other planes to make Chicago, in the order of their arrival, were: No. 49—Eugene Detmer, Tarrytown, N. Y., Eugene Detmer.

No. 50—W. H. Emery Jr., Bradford, Pa. No. 60—E. G. Knapp, Ypsilanti, Mich. No. 43—R. R. Johnson, Missoula, Mont. No. 41—Alverne Litzbenberger, Erie, Pa. Alverne Litzbenberger.

No. 51—K. R. Unger, Madison, N. J. K. R. Unger. No. 65—Jack Ashcroft, Towanda, Pa. Jack Ashcroft.

No. 52—Thomas J. Hill, Coffeyville, Kan. J. B. Sidowski. No. 66—Nimmo Black, Chicago, Nimmo Black.

While these plane are winging their way westward, the second section of the race will be getting under way at Roosevelt field, N. Y. These ships, heavier and more powerful than the first group, will make only one overnight stop, scheduled for St. Paul, Minn.

The third class of ships are scheduled to take off from Roosevelt field tomorrow. They will attempt non-stop flights from New York to Spokane.

Eleven Pass Through Cleveland. CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Eleven of the 15 class A entries in the New York-Spokane air derby had passed through here at noon today.

The planes arrived here in the following order: No. 6, Laird commercial; No. 4, Laird commercial whirlwind; No. 7, Yackey monoplane; No. 11, Buhl Airster; No. 12, Pitcairn Mailwing; No. 8, Waco whirlwind; No. 2, Yackey monoplane; No. 13, Waco 10; No. 16, Buhl Airster; No. 3, Ryan Brougham; No. 14, Travelair.

The Buhl Airster, No. 1, crashed in New Jersey, killing its two occupants, early today, while No. 10, a Ryan Brougham, was reported forced down at Kane, Pa. No reports had been received from the other two entries, No. 28, a Waco whirlwind, and No. 9, a Sikorsky Oriole, at noon.

U. S. HITS NEW FRENCH TARIFF

Warns Discrimination Against American Goods Must Stop.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—France was officially informed today that the United States stands ready to increase import duties on French goods unless the discrimination against American products under the new French tariff schedules is removed.

This attitude was revealed in a brief note delivered to the French foreign office in Paris in reply to the French rejection of the American proposal for a most favored-nation commercial treaty.

It is understood here that if the French display a desire to continue negotiations over the tariff question the parleys likely will be held in Washington rather than in Paris, as originally contemplated.

15 Planes Hop Off

slightly larger than the crowd which watched the class B planes take off yesterday morning at 7 o'clock.

A slight westerly wind was blowing, and a half-hearted sunlight shone on the planes as they took off.

The thirteenth plane to go was the Travelair, owned and piloted by J. L. O'Donnell, of Whittier, California, who had as his passenger his wife, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, a pretty woman, 23 years old, who is the only woman in the race. She is not a co-pilot but only a passenger.

69-year-old Man Passenger. The two-day 2,273 mile flight is to be made with five stops of five minutes each for refueling and one overnight stop at St. Paul, Minnesota.

Prizes for class A are $10,000 for the winner, $5,000 for second place, $2,000 for third, $1,000 for fourth, and $500 for fifth prize.

Major Charles Dickinson, of Chicago, aged 69, who has been christened the "Santa Claus of the Air Mail," because of his long white beard, accompanies E. E. Ballough of Chicago in a Laird commercial plane.

The planes in today's race are more powerful than those which hopped off yesterday, and should arrive in Spokane tomorrow afternoon at about the same time as the class B planes which started yesterday.

It was said today that there may be difficulty in the non-stop class scheduled to leave here Wednesday afternoon and to arrive in Spokane late Thursday. The rules specify that at least five starters must compete. To date, but two entries in the non-stop planes are at Roosevelt field. They are two Stinson planes, the Royal Windsor, piloted by C. S. "Duke" Schiller, with Phil Wood, Gar Duke's brother, as passenger, and the other piloted by Eddie Stinson, manufacturer of the Stinson planes.

Major Howard C. Davidson, who has been in charge of arrangements at this end, said today that he has received no definite word from the committee to call off the race, however, and would start Stinson and Schiller on their 300-mile air marathon on schedule time. Martin Jensen, pilot of the Ryan monoplane, was forced down in Arizona, with Leo, a movie stunt lion aboard, and will be unable to participate.

List of Entries. ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The list of entries in the Class A race in the Spokane air derby today, with their numbers, makes of planes and backers, is as follows:

1—R. E. Hudson, of Marysville, Mich., with a Buhl Airster entered by the Buhl Aircraft company.

2—E. K. Campbell, of Moline, Ill., in a Yackey monoplane entered by Dr. C. Sloan.

3—E. W. Cleveland, of Cleveland, O., in a Ryan Brougham entered by the Cleveland Pneumatic Tool company.

4—C. W. Holman, of St. Paul, with a Laird commercial sponsored by the National Lead Battery company.

6—E. E. Ballough, of Chicago, in another Laird commercial entered by the E. M. Laird company.

7—E. H. Lee, of Chicago, in a Yackey monoplane entered by Robert M. Hoffman.

8—John P. Wood, of Wausau, Wisconsin, flying a Waco whirlwind entered by himself.

9—Emil Burgin, of Mineola, N. Y., in his own Sikorsky Oriole.

10—Frank M. Hawks, of Houston, Texas, in his own Ryan Brougham.

11—N. B. Mamer, of Spokane, piloting a Buhl Airster entered by the city of Spokane.

12—James B. Ray, of Philadelphia, flying a Pitcairn mailwing entered by Pitcairn, Inc., the makers.

13—Tex Rankin, of Portland, Oregon, at the controls of a Waco 10, entered by the city of Portland, Oregon.

14—J. L. O'Donnell, of Whittier, California, flying his own Travelair.

16—L. T. Royal, of Flint, Mich., piloting a Buhl Airster entered by the A. C. Spark Plug company.

GIVES CITY LOWEST FIRE LOSS

For two years in succession the grand prize in the national fire waste contest has gone to the city of Albany, Ga., where the per capita fire loss is 44 cents. Albany citizens give credit to the methods of D. W. Brosnan, chief of the fire department, above, who has held the job for 16 years. "Fire prevention produces dividends in reduced insurance rates," he says.

SULLIVAN NAMED APPEALS CHIEF

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20.—Appellate Judge J. J. Sullivan, Cleveland, today was elected chief justice of the court of appeals of Ohio, at the annual meeting of the judges. He succeeds Judge Wade Cushing, Cincinnati. Judge Lewis B. Hough, Mt. Vernon, was re-elected recording secretary. The new term begins Jan. 1.

The offices to which the judges were named do not require them to leave their present posts.

paid a stirring tribute to the part played by America in the great war.

Abolish War, Pershing Urges. Thunderous applause greeted General Pershing as he stood on the rostrum to deliver his address to the assembled Legionnaires.

"As fighting men," the general declared, "we believe that war should be rendered impossible at any future time."

"This thought of the abolition of war is filling the minds of thoughtful men everywhere. Men are wondering why the code of honor that prevails among individuals cannot be made to operate between governments. If stealing and lying are wrong and illegal between men, why not between nations?"

General Pershing was unusually warm in phrasing his gratitude for the magnificent reception which had been accorded the Legionnaires in Paris.

Marshal Foch he described as "not only a great soldier, but a great man and a loyal friend."

1,000,000 War Widows in France. "Only one cloud darkened this happy reunion," General Pershing said. "We can still read tears in the eyes of the widows and orphans of France who have suffered a martyrdom as lasting as it has been cruel. There are one million widows in France, and two million orphans. Truly such woes appeal from tyranny to God."

The legion convention, the general said, is not only a reunion, but the bringing together of two great peoples.

"The cultivation of mutual understanding and sympathy among nations such as exist between France and America, offers a true formula for the peace of the world," he said.

After receiving routine reports, the convention adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. This afternoon will be devoted to committee meetings.

Next year's convention of the Legion seems virtually assured for San Diego. An informal understanding as to the selection of this city for the meeting place prevails from last year, and convention leaders say that little opposition is expected on the question.

MISS MACKENZIE SETS GOLF PACE

CHERRY VALLEY CLUB, Garden City, N. Y., Sept. 20. — Miss Leo Mackenzie, of Toronto, Canada, Canadian champion, who won the medal play in the qualifying round of the women's national golf championship, advanced to the second round of match play by overwhelming Mrs. E. H. Fitter, of the Merion Cricket club, today 7 and 5.

The Canadian girl, playing golf the like of which has rarely been seen in a championship, took the upper hand at the first green. Mrs. Fitter won only one hole from the Canadian, the third, and this came about because Miss Mackenzie's putting failed her at the crucial moment.

Miss Mackenzie's shots off the tee and her approaches were almost uniformly masterpieces of their kind. She had an uncanny knack of shooting straight and true for the pin and despite the narrow fairways she found the "rough" only twice in her entire round.

Body of Baby Found in Canal. MIDDLETOWN, O., Sept. 20.—The body of a two-day-old baby is being held in a morgue here, while authorities seek to account for its appearance in the old Miami and Erie canal. The body, wrapped in oil cloth, was found late Monday.

Worse Than Armies

The Hessian fly, so-called because it was brought over by the British-hired Hessians during the Revolutionary war, has caused more havoc than armies, say agricultural experts. Picture shows the puparia or "flaxseed," as it is called, enlarged, where it can be found on the wheat stalk, and a sketch of the invader himself, much magnified, of course. Late planting—not earlier than Sept. 22—is advised to avoid the pest.

WELLSVILLE TRAIN SCHEDULE IS EFFECTIVE SEPT. 25

BELLAIRE RUN OFF; EXTEND OTHER SERVICE

Better Accommodations for Visitors to Pittsburgh.

LIST LAY-OVER

Time of So-called "Midnight Express" is Changed.

Marked chiefly by the withdrawal of one train which heretofore has made a morning trip to Bellaire and a return trip to Wellsville in the evening, and the extension of this service to include runs to Pittsburgh, the Pennsylvania railroad's new fall schedule will go into effect on Sunday, Sept. 25.

The morning train to Bellaire formerly started here on its westbound trip and made Wellsville its terminal on the eastbound return trip.

Train No. 423, that will be placed in operation Sunday, makes possible the extended service. It will leave Pittsburgh at 8:15 a. m. and arrive at Wellsville at 9:50. It will lay over here for one hour, and then continue to Bellaire, arriving there at 1 o'clock. Train No. 422 will leave Bellaire at 1:30 p. m., arrive in Wellsville at 4:45, and Pittsburgh at 6:35, with no stop-over here.

The "midnight train" will leave Pittsburgh at 11:20 p. m., under the new schedule and arrive in Wellsville at 1 o'clock.

SALINEVILLE AUTO STOLEN

Attorney's Car Taken at Columbiana Street Fair.

Attorney S. E. McCormick's Ford sedan, 1926 model, was stolen at Columbiana Saturday night. James McCormick, his son, and friend, Homer Davis, had motored to Columbiana to attend the street fair. They parked the sedan, but when they went back for the car it was gone. Thinking it might have been moved by some one, they looked for it in town, but failing in their efforts, they notified the police. When they were convinced that it was gone, they went to Lisbon with friends, and a brother of Homer Davis, living in Lisbon, brought McCormick and Davis to Salineville. Young McCormick and Davis spent Sunday driving over the county looking for the car, thinking that it might have been abandoned, but no trace of the missing auto was found.

Announcement was made, Sabbath at the Presbyterian church by the pastor, that preparatory services will be held Friday evening at 7:30. Dr. Henry C. Foster, pastor of the Bethel Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon. Communion will be held on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Sept. 25, instead of on the first Sunday in October.

Walter Wirebaugh, son of George Henry Wirebaugh, of West End, was badly injured in the Bougher Mining company's mine Monday morning at about 7:30. Wirebaugh was caught by falling slate and his back was injured. Dr. C. A. McCollough was called and gave medical aid. He was taken to his home in West End.

Fred Madison and S. E. McCormick were business callers in East Liverpool, Monday.

JOHN COLE WEDS MRS. VIVA BARTH

Announcement was made here today of the marriage of Mrs. Viva Barth, of Fifteenth street, and John Cole, of Broadway, which was solemnized yesterday in Lisbon.

The bride, prior to her marriage, was employed at the Riverview hotel. The bridegroom is a city patrolman. Following the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Cole left on a trip to Niagara Falls.

McKINLEY P. T. A. OPENS SEASON

Plans for the year's activities of the organization were outlined at the season's initial meeting of McKinley Parent-Teachers' association last night.

A short musical program, arranged by Mrs. W. H. McClelland, included selections by James Sabbato, Paul Katz and pupils of Miss Freda Furrer's class.

MRS. HOMER TODD CLASS HOSTESS

Mrs. Homer Todd will be hostess to members of the Loyal Women's Sunday school class of the First Christian church on Thursday evening at her home in Commerce street.

The business session will be in charge of Mrs. Walter Weldon. Mrs. A. W. Phillips will lead the Bible study.

Mrs. L. E. Lee, wife of Rev. Lee, will give several musical selections and Miss Lois Rhurk a reading.

Plans will be discussed for the completion of preliminary arrangements for the homecoming ceremonies on Sunday, October 2.

Mrs. Todd will be assisted by Mrs. Gus Klavuhn and Mrs. Charles Montgomery.

TORONTO FACTORY ROOF BLOWN OFF

The Guy Johnston Contracting company, of Toronto, today began the construction of a new roof over the Quality Soda Works company, torn off Sunday when a miniature cyclone, reaching, it is said, a velocity of almost 60 miles an hour, swept over the city.

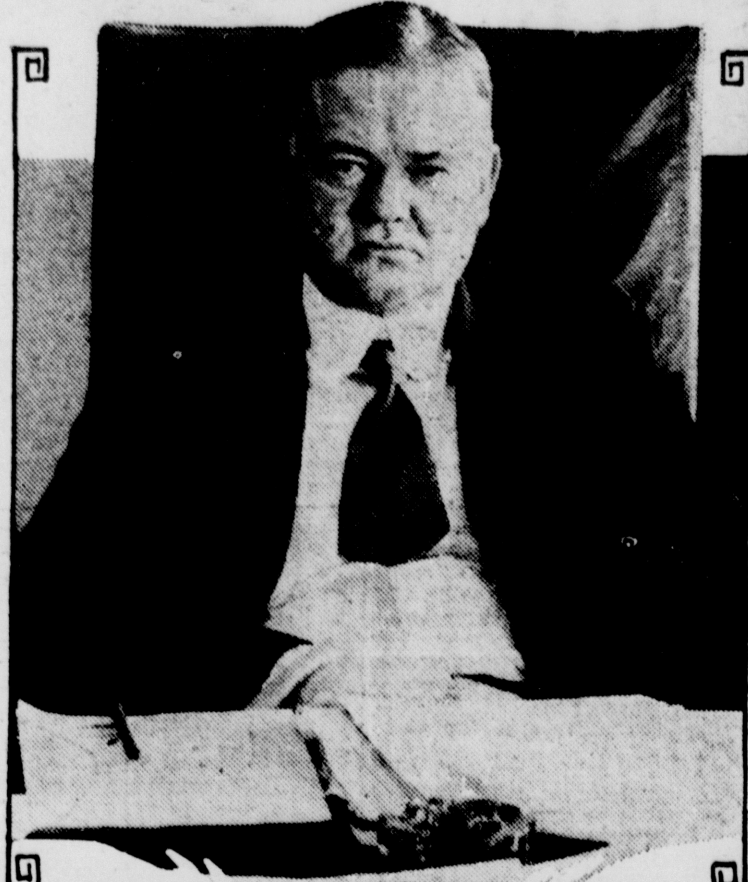

The Soda Works roof was completely lifted off and deposited in Myers street; two chimneys were blown loose, garage doors yanked from their hinges and awnings wrecked. Trees were uprooted in many parts of the city.

Australia's wool shortage this year is estimated at 250,000 bales.

13 ARE INDICTED IN ALCOHOL QUIZ

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Thirteen additional indictments today had been returned by the federal grand jury here in the superior industrial alcohol case.

A year ago, 112 persons from various parts of the country were indicted as members of the conspiracy which is alleged to have sold large quantities of illicit liquor in a number of cities of the east and mid-west.

The present grand jury is still considering the case. The 13 indictments brought in when it reported to Federal Judge Paul Jones last night were secret. A. E. Bernstein, district attorney, refused to tell how many persons were named in the true bills but intimated that they would be made public as soon as the accused have been placed under arrest.

BEBE DANIELS IN COMEDY HIT

"Swim, Girl Swim" is Screen Feature at Ceramic.

Funny, fast moving and chock full of interest is Bebe Daniels' latest comedy, "Swim, Girl Swim," which came to the Ceramic theatre last night for a three-day run.

Here is real entertainment from start to finish. Last year Miss Daniels gave us "The Campus Flier" and in her latest comedy, a picture of the same type, she is even better.

From the pen of Lloyd Corrigan comes this story of college athletics and laughs, and again Director Clarence Badger has given us a joyful little tale, something he seems always to do.

Never has Miss Daniels had a better vehicle and she makes the best of it. As the unknown, unattractive Alice Smith, a co-ed who really studies, she is transformed to the idol of the world by her swimming prowess when she cannot swim a stroke. The entanglements caused by this strange situation cause a steady stream of laughs and then at the last, the dashing Miss Daniels has a windup which is a scream.

Featured as an important member of the supporting cast is Gertrude Ederle, first woman to swim the English channel, who makes her film debut in "Swim, Girl Swim." "Trudy" is shown in action in the water and besides this, the girl proves that she can act. Miss Ederle plays the part of herself in the picture.

Miss Daniels again has James Hall as her leading man, and he is as handsome as ever. He handles his part very well, taking us back to one year ago when he made his screen debut opposite Miss Daniels in "The Campus Flier." Josephine Dunn is excellent as the rival; William Austin superb as Mr. Spangle, Ph. D. and James Mack rounds out the cast.

"Swim, Girl Swim" is delightful entertainment not only from the story standpoint but even the titles and photography are the very best.

FARMS VISITED IN COUNTY TOUR

Vigorous Growth Shown in Certified Seed
Potato Fields.

Seed potatoes of unknown quality which have been on the farm for years have no place on a modern Columbian county farm, according to observations in the fields of L. E. Sanor of West township. Sanor, brother of Knox township, made by J. J. Quigley and Mrs. Pearl Carter, both of Fairfield township, before 70 men on the soils and crops tour. Poor stands with numerous weak and diseased hills told the tale of inferior seed, while certified seed in the same fields showed a vigorous, healthy, uniform growth. Seed one and two years removed from certified seed gave promise of producing good yields but it is commonly observed that diseases and weak hills increase the longer such potatoes are grown in Columbian county.

Unsprayed check rows on the farm of Fred Schoeni indicate that leaf hoppers are taking their toll of unsprayed potatoes this year. Present indications are that spraying will show a profitable increase in the yield on this farm.

FIVE MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

A marriage license has been issued to Richard McGilvery of Cleveland, and a former resident of Salineville, and Miss Maude Overbaugh, also of Salineville, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Overbaugh. They were married at Lisbon by Rev. J. M. Cotton, of the Presbyterian church, this being his first marriage service since becoming pastor of the Lisbon church.

John W. Cole, of Wellsville, a police officer of that city, and formerly residing at Dennison, and Miss V. M. Barth, a divorcee, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMurray of Wellsville, were granted a marriage license.

Stephen Robinson and Elizabeth Pannell, residing at Wellsville, secured a marriage license. They were married by Rev. W. Woodson.

Leroy Miller, of Alliance, and Miss Georgia Southall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Southall, of East Liverpool, a colored couple, have been granted a marriage license. They are to be married by Rev. H. P. Sinclair.

Charlie Gardila, of Cleveland, and Mary Miraglette, of East Liverpool, a young Italian couple, have obtained a marriage license.

Irish Heirs May be Given Millions of Former Copper King

BELFAST—The fortune of $500,000 left by William Andrews Clark, an Irish emigrant, who became the Montana copper king, may go to this family of Eccles, now living at Ballywater, a County Down seaport.

The family aver that their mother, Mrs. Sumner Eccles (nee Alice Clark) was a sister of the multi-millionaire and they consist of seven granddaughters and one grandson. Other claimants are the descendants of the "Copper King's" brother Joseph who are now in Australia.

A syndicate has been formed to press the claim, but it will have to prove to the satisfaction of the American courts, the parentage of the multi-millionaire.

"SYNCOPATING SUE" AT STRAND

Corrine Griffith Stars
in Working Girl
Role.

It's a treat for most film fans just to watch Corrine Griffith's blonde beauty move across the screen, follow her graceful movements, note the charm of her manner and the style of her clothes.

But when this actress whom "Liberty Weekly" has declared the most beautiful woman in the world appears in a story as absorbing and yet humorously spun as "Syncopating Sue" an evening of unrivaled entertainment is achieved.

The capacity audiences who saw the new First National release at the Strand last night declared it one of the season's best, funnier than "Classified," more gripping than "Into Her Kingdom," and, all in all, as finished a picture as the gorgeous Corrine has ever made.

Since the nationally known magazine crowned Corrine the world's most wonderful, her name alone has served to draw huge crowds to every picture. First National has more than kept faith, however, and the latest comedy vehicle supplied Miss Griffith is joyous entertainment in itself.

ons entertainment in itself.

"Syncopating Sue" is the tale of a piano-playing song-plugger in New York's Tin Pan Alley, whose main interests in life are her dreams of a stage career and her romance with a cabaret trap drummer, made a lovable screen character by the charming performance of Tom Moore, who has the lead opposite the star.

There is good drama, deft comedy and sentiment sprinkled appetizingly through "Syncopating Sue." Marjorie Rambeau, famous stage star, heads the able supporting cast, including Rockcliffe Fellowes, Joyce Compton, Lee Moran and Sunshine Hart. Richard Wallace did an admirable job as director.

Put "Syncopating Sue" down on your engagement pad this week. She'll show you a happy time!

How THE Other Half Behaves

Advice to Thieves.
NEW YORK—A cash display of $54.50 with the information that this was the amount $100 would earn in 10 years if invested with the Franklin Society for Home Building and Savings, was stolen by a thief recently.

A few days later the society published the following notice:

"If the culprit deposits the $54.50 immediately, his money will have earned, 10 years from now, at the same rate of dividend, $30.80. So that, if apprehended, he will have a nest egg of $85.30 to begin life anew."

Unlucky 13.

TOLEDO, O.—Clarence Farrow, colored, is more convinced than ever that "13" is his unlucky number. When a stranger stepped up and began an argument with him for no apparent reason, Farrow, an adept hurler, er, equipped himself with two pool balls. Then the stranger attempted to knife him and then fled. Farrow hurled one of the balls at the man, as he ran down the street. It missed its mark. Clarence later discovered it was the "13" ball he had thrown. The man disappeared before another ball could be gotten into action.

Highway at Substation.

The last concrete was expected to be poured today on the south section of the East Liverpool-Youngstown road at the Youngstown & Ohio substation by Lewis & Copeland, contractors. This section extends from Apple's corner to the substation.

The road probably will be opened on or about Oct. 15.

No date has been set for concrete work on the northern end of this highway.

Meillett & Weidner have finished the pouring of concrete on the mile section of the Lincoln highway west of Kensington, and this road will be opened within three weeks.

BANDIT GIVEN DEATH SENTENCE

OKMULGEE, Okla., Sept. 20.—Matthew Kimes, most colorful of modern Oklahoma outlaws, yesterday was sentenced to death in the electric chair for his part in the murder of W. J. McAnally, chief of police at Beggs, Okla., last spring, and the robbery of two Beggs banks. Kimes recently was captured in the Grand Canyon of Arizona and returned to Oklahoma where he was wanted in connection with nearly a dozen bank robberies.

RHEUMATISM

May be relieved by rational treatment—it can not be rubbed away.

Are you one of those unfortunate who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, commonly called rheumatism, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep? You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so, I couldn't walk. I tried almost everything. Went to Hot Springs . . . then finally decided to try S.S.S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicine but I think S.S.S. is the best." Earl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Tenn.

S.S.S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Highs Book Cleveland Eleven For Grid Lid-Lifter Saturday CITY SERIES EVENED AGAIN AS POTTERS WIN FOURTH

FOES FINISH HECTIC BATTLE IN DARKNESS

Cords, Trailing by Four Runs in Fourth, Tie it up in Sixth; Lose on Herbert's Double and Peg Into Crowd.

With managerial grey matter working overtime, pinch hitters galore going up to the plate, some hitting and most of them missing, relief twirlers beating paths from dugout to mound, a new series hero appearing in the person of Bubin who drove in the first two runs of the battle, and other high spots, including the banishment of Shortstop Melchori from the playing field, last night's game between the Superior Cords and the Homer Laughlins, the fourth of the City League championship series, goes down as the headline event of the series to date.

Winning by a score of 5 to 4, under a mantle of darkness, the Potters registered their second victory and tied up the series count with the Tiremen.

With the exception of Stoffel, Chester reserve flinger, entire pitching staffs of both teams were paraded during the game. Grim gave way to Ashe for Laughlin, while Manager Riley used Herman, Curly Evans and Crandall, in turn, 25 players, in all breaking into the lineup.

Crandall pitched only to one man, Bubin, who, after having warned the bench during the series to date, broke into the game last night in the absence of Outfielder Crawford, who was late in arriving. In his first time up Bubin socked out a hit and so Bubin remained right in there. In his second trip up he walloped another one, driving in two runs. In his third appearance, he fanned on Crandall's slants, but Scullion, dropping the third strike, was forced to throw to first. Wilde made the putout and then tossed to third to get Herbert, who had started from second on Scullion's peg. The ball got lost in the darkness, enroute, and brought up in the crowd, Herbert being given the plate on the throw into the sidelines and his was the winning run. Summing it up Bubin drove in two runs, scored one himself and brought about the scoring of the winning tally.

Lefty Crandall, who has won two series games to date, broke into last night's contest as a pinch hitter. Batting for Herman in the fifth, he lined out a single, scoring two runs and counted himself a moment later on Parsons' drive.

Curly Evans retired the Potters without scoring in the fifth but when Herbert started with a double in the sixth and final inning, Riley called in Crandall to pitch to Bubin. Crandall came through with his part of the assignment, fanning Bubin, but the subsequent throwing around the lot produced the winning run for Laughlin.

Melchori's banishment was the first of the season. The umpire put in a hard night of it, the game being punctuated by arguments and discussions the last two or three innings. Melchori demanded that Umpire Hall, who was officiating at the plate, inspect the ball Grimm was throwing. Melchori at the time occupying the first base coach's box. The player came in twice to discuss the matter with Hall and the latter finally waved him to the bench.

Grimm again twirled craftily for Laughlin. For four straight innings he blanked his opponents. In the fifth with a four run lead, just procured, an error by Sayers and three hits gave Chester a trio of runs. At that he fanned three men in this interval. With one gone in the sixth he permitted two men to get on by a walk and a single. Then Ashe supplanted him. Randall dropped the ball as Finley assisted on Wilde's blow and the tying run resulted. Then Ashe fanned Greene and Herbert threw out Crandall at first.

Herman blanked the Potters for three straight innings but two hits, a walk and a fielder's choice set him four runs in that period. He fanned five and walked two as against four and three respectively by Grimm.

Laughlin got out of a bad hole in the third. Bakosh opened the period with a walk. Herman sacrificed. Grimm to Heckathorne. J. Evans flew to W. Watson. Parsons drew a second walk. He was caught off first by Grimm in the zig-zag that followed. Bakosh started for the plate. The zig-zag was transferred to that territory. Parsons being permitted to reach second while Herbert finally tagged out Bakosh, thus retreating the side.

Two men got on successfully for Laughlin at the outset of the fourth when Heckathorne walked and Webster singled to left. Finley then forced Heckathorne at third. Herman to Bakosh, when he essayed a sacrifice. Herbert walked, filling the bags. Bubin singled to middle, scoring Webster and Finley on the plate throw. Crawford was ruled to have beaten out Crawford's rep to Melchori, who threw to Wilde as Herbert counted.

Bubin on the above play had gone to third where he also finished as Crawford was caught stealing second. Scullion to Melchori. Sayers then fanned.

Scullion reached first on Sayers' fumble in the fifth. Wilde beat out a blow to second. Greene, batting for Bakosh, fanned. Crandall, awaiting for Herman, singled to left, scoring Scullion. Wilde going to second. J. Evans struck out as Wilde stole third. Crandall then grabbed second. Both runners counted on Parsons' single to left. P. Cebula, batting for Melchori, who had been banished from the game, struck out, three men having fanned in the inning.

C. Evans went in to pitch for Chester in this inning. J. Evans supplanting Melchori at short, Parsons going to left and Crandall to right.

Chester tied the score in the sixth when McConnell went around. He walked after Connors had lined to Crawford. Scullion singled to left. Ashe, replacing Grimm, moved both

Breezes Pep Up Mid-West Grid Squads

CHICAGO, Sept. 20. — Chill fall winds that swept over mid-western gridirons today snapped a seasonable touch of vim and vigor into the practice sessions of various Big Ten football squads preparing for the opening of the 1927 championship race.

At Purdue, Coach Phelan announced he would send his first and second teams through a regular full-time game, and that the men selected for the first string probably would be his varsity regulars. They include the following: Dreyer, center; Elckman and Gallech, tackles; Hook and Prentice, guards; Capt. Wilcox and Welch, halves; Wilson, quarter, and Koransky, fullback.

Coach Stagg of Chicago today concentrated on shaping up his back field. His line is about as he wants it. Blum, new fullback prospect, and Mendenhall, sophomore quarterback candidate, will be given an opportunity to display their wares this afternoon.

Coach Hanley at Northwestern will scrimmage this afternoon with Lewis, Gustafson, Homer and Calderwood in the backfield. These men have been working together for several days and are showing much promise.

Michigan and Indiana reported that today's workout will be aimed at developing punters. Greenwald and Gilbert, Michigan backs, are the mainstays of the kicking game for the Wolverines.

Night practice sessions will start at University of Wisconsin the latter part of this week, according to reports from Madison. The Badgers have been drilling morning and afternoon for a week, but with the beginning of classes tomorrow night sessions will become the order.

up with a wild pitch. Wilde drove to Finley, who assisted to Randall, but the latter dropped the ball. McConnell thus counting Wilde stole second. Greene fanned while Crandall went out. Herbert to Heckathorne.

Laughlin had two men left on the bags in the last of the fifth when Grimm singled through Connors to right after C. Evans had caught Lang's pop-up. Heckathorne then walked. Webster fled to Crandall in right while Finley left the runners strand as he went out at first. Connors assisting.

BUSTER CONGRATULATES THE BABE

Lou "Buster" Gehrig, who once had hopes of dethroning Babe Ruth as Sultan of Swat, congratulates the Bambino on retaining his royal raiment as king of home run clouters. However, there's a look in Lou's eyes which seems to say: "Just you wait till next year, though—"

Crandall and Ashe Battle In 5th Game

THOSE baseball fans who are following the fortunes of their favorite City Industrial League club, whether that club be Homer Laughlin or the Chester Superior Cords, and who might have entertained thoughts that the clubs were trying to string out the series to the full seven games with pecuniary motive, certainly must have had their doubts dispelled here they present at last night's battle royal at Newell.

There was probably less baseball about last night's game than in any game of the series to date, but there were more thrills and excitement than in the first three games put together and if the clubs go into Wednesday's tilt at Chester with any sort of a hangover the crowd is certain to be swelled.

Unless Manager Pearl Bailey does something unexpected, Ashe will go to the rubber Wednesday at Chester, and Riley's only guess is Lefty Crandall who has won two league tussles to date.

They're fighting for every point now and as a result the series is bound to warm up from now on.

SCHEDULE HOLY NAME AT PATTERSON FIELD

Hurst & Co., Pick Off Tough Opponent for Opener: Speed up Practice Sessions With Four Days to go.

Holy Name High school, of Cleveland, almost as well and favorably known in northern Ohio gridiron circles as Cathedral Latin and St. Ignatius, will collaborate with East Liverpool High in 1927 football lid-lifting ceremonies Saturday afternoon at Patterson Field.

Completion of negotiations which bring the strong Fifth City pigskin chasers to the Catholic City for the first game of the season was announced this morning by Coach Joe Hurst who sees a mighty big job ahead of the Blue and White. The booking of Holy Name fills one of the open dates on the local card, the other occurring after the Akron East contest, a week from next Saturday.

While the advantage lies almost entirely with the visitors in the Saturday game, the former Wooster man, who is teaching the local youngsters the tricks that gave Adena high some first class football teams while he was in charge there, is confident the squad is going to come through the first test with a good showing.

Holy Name opened their campaign last Saturday, taking over John Marshall by a score of 13 to 12, a narrow squeak, at that. "But with that first game out of the way and the edges smoothed off, so to speak, they are bound to feel more confident of themselves and more certain in their tactics."

With Coach Hurst driving the squad hard in preparation for the opener, the locals are snapping into their task with enthusiasm and plenty of spirit.

Last week's practices were devoted to

4th Round Knockout Is Jack's Goal

Tells Traine He's Right and to "Bet Your Shirt on Me."

By Davis J. Walsh.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Jack Dempsey says he will win by a knockout in the fourth round.

Dempsey so declared himself today when he returned from his run on the road. The declaration was made to Jeremiah Lavadas, the big masseur and with hazel man from the locker room, and although the writer admits he wasn't hiding under the Persian rug for the occasion, a transcript of the testimony was given me by a mutual friend who happened to be present.

"Bet the shirt on me this time, I'm right," was Dempsey's tip to the little half-literate Greek who has made a god of the man he has rubbed and laved and petted and slapped into condition or out. Crisco and his man Friday live again in the persons of this pair and Dempsey would rather lose his index finger than cross his loyal soul, born to be a bootblack but fated to bask in the reflected glory of an ex-champion of the heavyweights.

Can't Miss, Says Jack.

"Jerry, I'm set," Dempsey added. "You have been loyal and true to me and I want you to cash. I know in my heart that I can't miss this one."

This may or may not be the ravings of the usual passe athlete who never knows the truth about himself until that truth is the jest of every bar room. It may be the story of a prematurely aged man who knows himself less than he knows the countless thousands of casuals who persist in glorifying him. As to that, I cannot say.

However, I can say and I will that Dempsey called up intimate friends before the Sharkey fight and gave them the same tip—to go on him until the elastic was worn thin. They did and he cashed their bets for them.

However, Dempsey's opinion is something else compared with what he may feel or what he may do. But he thinks he's set.

"I'll get him before the fourth round," Dempsey has told close friends. "As a matter of fact I may get him earlier. What I am figuring on doing is to go in there and start plugging. If I miss I'll go out. If I come home, he'll go out. It's all very simple."

And what about a foul.

Miller May Be Referee.

Well they had had foul punches in "big shots" before and perhaps it may be no novelty to have one now. Anyhow the referee will be picked today by the boxing commission and the general understanding is that Dave Miller cannot go wrong. He has handled the big fights here, he has the backing of Mayor William Hale Thompson and he happens to be a man who knows what it is all about.

His only contestant is Emil Thiry, who is older than last winter's boot. Emil just can't get around and David can, does and will.

Even though the referee situation remains undecided Dempsey admires, flocking here on every train, are showing willingness—aye eagerness—to get their money down on the ex-champion. The result has been that in the last 24 hours there has been a revision of the betting odds.

Odds Down to 6 to 5.

The odds are down to 6 to 5 now, with Tunney the favorite, and there is some wagging at even money. In fact, according to hotel lobby gossip, there is great wads of Dempsey coin going begging. Chicago betting commissioners were asserting that by the time the men enter the ring, Dempsey may be the favorite. The Dempsey betters, however, were insisting on 6 to 5 odds this morning. Palmer House Bill Ryan said he had been commissioned to bet $40,000 at those odds. It was reported that Herbert G. Shimp, Chicago turfman, acting for Kansas City friends, has received $50,000 to wager on Dempsey.

Toronto Girl Is Medalist In National

By Malcolm Roy.

CHERRY VALLEY CLUB GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Foreign women golfers hold a strong hand in the first match round of the Women's National Golf championship which is to be played over the eighteen hole course of this club today. Miss Ada MacKenzie of Toronto, Canada women's champion both in the amateur and open classes, with her medal winning round of 77 in yesterday's qualifying play, apparently has a splendid opportunity to make things uncomfortably interesting for the American girls who are striving for the title.

Miss MacKenzie played flawless golf to score five under par in her qualifying round, one under Miss Maureen O'Connell, the New York metropolitan district champion. Miss O'Connell turned in a 78 for her first day's card and was tied with Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, of the Milburn club of Kansas City, Mo., for the runner-up place.

Not far behind Miss MacKenzie, however, as a leading contender for the match play honors is Mrs. William Grant Fraser of the Royal Ottawa Club of Canada. Mrs. Fraser, as Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, was a three-time winner of the highest title in women's golf and the steadiness of her play in the qualifying round indicates that she has retained her form.

Miss Glenna Collett, of the Greenwich C. C., formerly of Providence, R. I., although she trailed well behind the leaders in medal play, is regarded as having an excellent chance to regain the title she lost two years ago.

Lead Cut, But Bucs Retain Pennant Edge

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Although Pittsburgh's lead over New York in the National league scramble had been cut to 3½ games today by Brooklyn's victory over the Pirates while the Giants and Cardinals were winning, the Cosats still have a mathematical edge over their rivals.

The Giants have ten games to play and Pittsburgh has thirteen. If the Giants cop all ten, the Pirates need win only eight out of thirteen to tie. While the Cardinals are half a game behind the Giants, they do not have to take on the tough Pirates. In order to stay in the running the Giants must sweep their four-game series with Pittsburgh, starting Thursday.

Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn, strike-out king of the National league, neatly kalsomined the Bucs yesterday, 3 to 0, after they had won eleven straight. Carmen Hill pitched shutout ball except for a fatal lapse in the sixth inning when he was ruined by a rally featured by Babe Herman's double.

Burling Grimes chalked up his fourteenth consecutive victory as the Giants outsluged the Reds, 10 to 6. Bill Terry smacked two singles, a triple and his fifth homer of the trip. The homer was the longest wall-piercing ever poked into the Portville right field bleachers.

On their western trip the Giants have copped ten out of sixteen games, while the Cardinals are enjoying a winning streak of four straight. With Fred Frankhouse winning his fourth game in as many starts, the world's champions smothered the Phils again, 12 to 5.

Wattie Holm, converted outfielder who has replaced Les Bell at third for the Cards, hit three doubles and Sunny Jim Bottomley, who is on a home run rampage, again hit for the circuit. Cy Williams of the Phils walloped his 28th homer, forging ahead of Hack Wilson in the race for National league circuit-clouting honors.

Frank Frisch got his 589 assist of the season, establishing a new National league record.

Arthur Nehf, former world series hero who could not win when with the Reds, pitched the Cubs to a 6 to 0 victory over the Braves. Nehf helped win his own game with a double and a single.

In the only game played in the American league, the Senators took a five inning contest from Cleveland, 4 to 1. Hadley, a rookie, outpitched the veteran George Uhle.

HERE'S LATERAL PASS RULING

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 20.—The interpretation placed upon the rules governing the use of the new lateral pass by the Western Conference (Big Ten), which was later approved by the national football rules committee, will govern in games in the Ohio conference, and between high schools in Ohio.

This was the decision of a meeting of coaches and athletic officials here late yesterday. The Western Conference ruling holds that an incomplete backward pass, touched by a player on either side, and later rolling out of bounds of grounding, shall become the property of the team making the pass, at the point where it was touched, instead of at the point where the ball touched the ground, as the original rule implied.

Jack to Use Methods That Beat Sharkey

LINCOLN FIELDS, Ill., Sept. 20.—

Jack Dempsey spent most of the forenoon today loafing. The challenger and his entourage will remain in the quiet of Col. Matt Winn's estate until late tomorrow and possibly until the evening of the fight.

Dempsey abandoned sparring after Sunday's drill and is content now to hold his fighting edge by means of light work on the punching bags, the pulleys and shadow boxing.

He is continuing his road work and today he planned to take some batting practice on the punching bags.

Leo P. Flynn, Dempsey's manager, profited a knockout win for the ex-champion.

Flynn said Dempsey will employ a heavy body attack against Tunney.

"We'll fight him in much the same way we fought Sharkey," and Gene can't hope to stand up under the terrific blows Jack will drive to his body. They'll beat him, just as they did Sharkey and we won't be fooling him, either," he said.

Dempsey's weight is 158 pounds, it was reported today, and he will probably be between 195 and 198 for the fight.

Hurst is still driving the squad in fundamentals this week, with plenty of drill practice at frequent intervals.

Two squads were lined up for a short scrimmage last night following a period of signal drill, tackling, blocking and other routine work.

Indications at present point to a good, sound line. English and Anderson, a pair of veterans, along with Orr, have been working on the ends. Crawford, Ralph Smith and "Red" Clark at the tackles, and Benekaber, Allison and Walter Smith at the guards. Allison and Walter Smith at the guards. Allison and Walter Smith at the guards. This outfit, as a whole, has shown plenty of fight and spirit in sessions thus far and can be depended upon to carry it into the opening game.

The Saturday game, Hurst announces, will start at 3 o'clock.

Gene Certain He'll Finish Out In Front

LAKE VILLA, Ill., Sept. 20.—

I will beat Jack Dempsey. I'm not saying I will knock him out but I will give him a beating."

This was the assertion of Gene Tunney today as preparations were being made at his camp here to pull up stakes.

Heavy training for Tunney has ended. He is now down to 189 pounds and says he is in the pink of condition. All he wants to do now, he said, is to keep the fighting edge he has achieved.

"I weigh 189 pounds," he said this morning. "I expect to weigh one pound less when I enter the ring."

He did a little light road work this morning and this afternoon he may toy with light and heavy bags. He planned to do no more boxing. He expects to leave here tomorrow for Chicago, where he will rest until the hour of the battle.

Gene worked for the last time yesterday. He slugged his sparring partners, Jackie Williams and Billy Vidaback through five rounds. Not at any time since he established his residence here did he look so impressive. His injured right eye has completely healed.

Trainer Lou Fink said: "Gene can't miss. Right now he weighs 189 pounds. He will enter the ring weighing 188. He can dry out that one pound easily. At Philadelphia he weighed 186, but he has grown bigger and heavier since the first time he beat Jack."

Fink stated that Tunney was 75 per cent better in every way than when he met Dempsey in Philadelphia last September.

There is a spirit of optimism here that has seldom been equaled at any camp before a championship battle.

WEIRTON MAN
BADLY SLASHED

Douglas Turner, 30, War Veteran, Attacked by Fellow Workmen.

Douglas Turner, 30, employed in the electrical department of the Weirton Steel mill, is confined in the Ohio Valley hospital at Steubenville as a result of knife wounds he received on the head and side when attacked last Friday night in a Weirton confectionery.

Knowledge of Turner's attack was not revealed until yesterday when information regarding Turner's condition was learned by prosecuting attorney Thomas Hoffman of Hancock county. According to Hoffman, Turner's attack followed a series of conflicts held with workmen at the Weirton Steel company. Turner is said to have had two previous rows with groups of workmen with whom he is in charge. The first was on August 25 and the second on Sept. 7.

Friday night at 10 o'clock it was said that Turner entered the Lincoln confectionery store at Weirton and was attacked by three of his workmen. His head was cut when hit by a pop bottle while a number of wounds were inflicted in his side, when stabbed with a stiletto. He was removed to the hospital late that evening.

Fourteen people have been arrested since the attack and with the 20 witnesses who were in the store at the time the conflict occurred, will appear before Attorney Hoffman for questioning.

Turner is an ex-soldier and a prominent member of the American Legion at Weirton.

"BABY SMITH"
IS GIRL, NURSE
ON CASE SAYS

Cleveland Hospital Attendants Ready to Solve Puzzle.

DEFER HEARING

Miss Ruth Meyer Became Confused, She Declares.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—"Baby Smith" is a girl, and the hospital in which she was born has evidence conclusive enough to convince even her doubting mother.

This was the substance of a statement which today had been issued by Phillip Vollmer, Jr., superintendent of Fairview Park hospital, who declares that the institution is ready to definitely clear up the peculiar problem when Common Pleas Judge Carl Weygandt resumes his hearing Thursday.

Miss Ruth Meyer, who was the attending nurse when Mrs. Samuel Smith gave birth to a baby August 22, returned from her vacation last night and will be ready to testify at the resumption of the court hearing, Vollmer said.

Told Doctor Boy Was Born. The nurse who already told her story to hospital officials, Vollmer stated, relating that the baby was really a girl, but that she became confused and told Dr. J. A. Ruetnik, when he arrived a few minutes following the child's birth, that he baby was a boy. The doctor then conveyed this information to the mother and father, according to the nurse's story, as related by Vollmer.

Nine days after birth, the mother discovered that the baby, which had been named "George," was a girl. She and her husband then brought babies corpus proceedings and the hospital was requested to produce their "son." Since the beginning, Mrs. Smith has nursed and cared for the baby girl.

although expressing doubt that it was her own. Judge Weygandt visited the mother Monday at the hospital, which she refuses to leave, and assured her that "all resources of courts and science are directed at convincing you that you have the right baby."
